ATLANTA TO TAKE STEPS TO SECURE CREMATORY TODAY

Councilman Humphrey Proposes to Lease Plant for Six Months With Option to Purchase in 1914.

"SCHEME IS ILLEGAL," SAYS CITY ATTORNEY

Outright Purchase Is the Only Legal Way by Which the City Can Get Control, Says James L. Mayson.

Atlanta today faces the greatest municipal crisis, from a health standpoint, in its history.

The situation, brought about by the action of the Georgia supreme court, invalidating the contract for the $76,000 crematory, has made it necessary for council to negotiate for the outright purchase or lease of the plant.

Steps toward acquiring the plant will be taken at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, when Chairman W. G. Humphrey, of the finance committee, heads a subcommittee composed of Alderman J. H. Harwell and Councilman A. R. Colcord and Jesse H. Wood to confer with Attorneys Evins & Spence on a proposal to lease the plant for a period of six months, with an option to purchase in 1914.

Scheme Illegal, Says Mayson.

The scheme of Chairman Humphrey appears to be a logical solution of the problem, but as it carries the debt over to the next council, it is also illegal, it is claimed. City Attorney James L. Mayson told the finance committee Friday afternoon that Chairman Humphrey's proposal would not stand a test in court, and advised against it.

"The only legal way by which the city can take over the plant is to purchase it outright," City Attorney Mayson said.

Chairman Humphrey says his leasing scheme is the only method by which the city can secure the plant without scuttling the June finance sheet.

"My idea is that the city secure a lease from the Destructor company for a period of six months," he said, "with an option to purchase next year. The $150,000 in the sheet to pay the crematory debt can be carried over to next year, and council can then appropriate $150,000 more and buy the crematory in that way."

Chairman Humphrey will put his proposal to Attorneys Evins & Spence, Saturday. He will demand that whatever money the city pays on the lease be applied to the purchase price.

Company Will Not Agree.

Sam N. Evins, one of the attorneys for the Destructor company, declared Friday that he felt certain that the company would not agree to Councilman's Humphrey's plan.

"Even if the scheme was agreeable to us, it is illegal, and we would be in the same fix next year as we are now."

Attorney Evins said that the only proposition the Destructor company will consider is the purchase of the plant outright for $276,000 this year. W. E. Dowd, Jr., sales manager for the company, will be in Atlanta Saturday and will be called into the conferences.

Mayor Woodward has says that he is willing for the city to purchase the property for cash, this year, but he does not approve paying $276,000 cash for it. He says that it is a plain business proposition that the company discount the contract for cash. Chairman Humphrey is of the same opinion, and is backed up by Aldermen Harwell and Colcord. Other members of the finance committee declare that it would not be fair to even suggest that the Destructor company discount the contract.

Mayor Argues for Discount.

"Any business house in the country will discount at least 2 per cent for

SUFFRAGETTES ATTEMPT TO FIRE ROYAL ACADEMY

Lighted Candles and Oiled Rags in Building Containing World's Greatest Art Treasures.

London, May 30.—An attempt was made tonight to set fire to the Royal academy. Although the usual votes for women placards were not found, the police suspect militant suffragettes were responsible for the attempt to destroy the building in which are housed some of the world's greatest works of art.

Shortly after the exhibition closed for the night a watchman discovered in a small room on the ground floor a card-board box filled with rags and cotton saturated with oil. A number of wax tapers were bound about the box, which had been so placed that the flames from it easily would have communicated with the walls.

The suffragettes resumed their campaign of destruction tonight in the Lewisham branch postoffice, which they had attacked several times previously. They set fire to the letters in the buildings and the flames were extinguished only after a number of them had been destroyed.

Bottles containing corrosive mixtures and addressed to Reginald McKenna, home secretary, were found today in a mail box.

Railway telegraph and telephone wires were cut today in various places in Wales. Suffragette literature was found scattered near the scenes of these depredations.

Automobile drivers and cyclists in the Doncaster districts made complaint today that tacks which punctured their tires were scattered over the highways.

CHLOROFORM IS USED BY UP-TO-DATE THIEF TO CATCH CHICKENS

"Boss, ther best way ter ketch chickens is ter chloroform 'em." This is what no doubt a certain negro prowler would have told at the police station last night had he tarried a little longer in the rear of James Morgan's residence at 121 East Georgia avenue.

At about 10 o'clock a call was sent to the police station from that residence requesting officers immediately as a chicken thief was seen pulling the staple off of the chicken house in the yard.

Call Officers Shumate and Palmer, two of the fastest men on the force, were sent on their motorcycles, and arrived just as the negro was jumping the fence. Running around to one side, they would have caught him had not some of the neighbors fired pistol shots. Then the negro flew.

Officer Shumate began to search in the garden for traces of the negro. In the bushes he found a big basket, full of chickens, and at the bottom of the basket a pint bottle half full of chloroform.

The chickens were fast asleep.

"I've chased a good many chicken thieves in my time, but I never heard of chloroform being used to catch the chickens," said Mr. Shumate when he returned to the station, with the evidence in his hand.

HOLES IN HIS SHOES AND IN HER HOSIERY CAUSE POLICE CASE

Ladies who wear holes in their hosiery should not rag gentlemen who wear holes in their shoes. This is the philosophy of life as expressed by Max Singer, a peddler, of 209 East Hunter, yesterday afternoon.

Singer had called on a lady on East Fair street, so Singer says, and offered to cure sick, lame and decrepid waists of their manifold ailments in return for the proper pieces of silver.

The lady in question remarked that the waistmaker of Atlanta needed to have the holes in the heel of his shoes repaired worse than her watch needed greasing.

Singer made his retort courteous, saying that while he was cognizant of the fact that his shoes were suffering from the ravages of Father Time, yet the lady making the remark had large, unseemly, unsightly and holy holes in her hosiery.

Whereupon Mr. Max Singer was taken under the watchful wing of the law and langulshed in the jug until released on $50 bail.

The technical charge against him is operating without a license, as it is stated upon good authority that the lady in question will not care to have her hosiery made "exhibit A" before Recorder Broyles this afternoon.

REBEL IN BIPLANE DEFIES THE SHELLS OF MEXIC WARSHIP

Nogales, Ariz., May 30.—Aviator Didier Masson yesterday sailed his big biplane over the gunboat Guerrero in Guaymas bay. The ship's gunners attempted to shell the aeroplane, which remained at a height of 5,000 feet. None of the shells took effect. Masson did not attempt to drop any bombs. To show his defiance of the federal gunners he made five flights over the bay.

In the meantime state troops were driving the federals back toward Guaymas, say official state reports. The fighting took place at Batamotal, where there was a fight on the day before. It is declared by the state officials that all is ready for a concentrated attack on Guaymas with Masson assisting from overhead, while the insurgents attack from three sides.

LIGHT HORSE HARRY NOW RESTS BESIDE DISTINGUISHED SON

Lexington, Va., May 30.—A committee of the Virginia assembly arrived here today from Cumberland island, Georgia, bringing a flag-draped casket containing the remains of General "Light Horse" Harry Lee, of revolutionary fame.

Escorted by cadets from the Virginia Military institute and students from Washington and Lee university, the casket was borne by cadet and student pallbearers to Lee mausoleum. There, with impressive ceremonies, it was reinterred in the crypt beside the body of the revolutionary soldier's distinguished son, General Robert E. Lee.

BRYAN PEACE PLAN TAKEN FAVORABLY BY EIGHT NATIONS

Responses Are Received From Italy, Great Britain, Brazil, France, Sweeden, Norway, Peru and Russia.

NO ADVERSE ANSWERS TO SECRETARY'S PROPOSAL

Tentative Statement Embodying Details Suggested by President Has Been Submitted to 8 Governments.

Washington May 30.—Secretary Bryan signified the day commorative of the country's hero dead, by announcing that eight nations have responded favorably to his peace plan, asking that suggestions be submitted in regard to details. The nations in the order in which they have accepted are Italy, Great Britian, France, Brazil, Sweden, Norway, Peru and Russia.

Secretary Bryan said that no nation to whom his peace plan was submitted had replied adversely although some had asked more time for consideration.

To each of the governments expressing a willingness to enter into the agreement, a tentative statement has been submitted embodying details suggested by the president. The secretary, pointing out that this statement was submitted for consideration, with no intention of insistence upon any particular detail, declined to make public its contents.

Mr. Bryan discussed the progress of his plan in the following statement:

Substance of Plan.

"It will be remembered that about a month ago a plan was, by the president's direction, submitted to all the governments having representatives here, the plan being in substance as follows:

"First, that the United States is prepared to enter into an agreement with each and every country severally providing for the investigation of all disputes of every character and nature by an international commission, the contracting parties agreeing not to declare war or begin hostilities until such investigation is made and report submitted.

"Second, the investigation to be conducted as a matter of course, upon the initiative of the commission, without the formality of a request from either party.

"Third, the report to be submitted within a given time, the time to be agreed upon.

"Fourth, the parties to reserve the right to act independently on the subject matter in dispute, after the report is submitted.

"The composition of the commission was a matter of detail to be agreed upon by the contracting parties; the time also in which the report should be submitted was a matter of detail to be agreed upon by the contracting parties.

"Eight nations have up to this time responded favorably, some indorsing the principle and asking that suggestions be submitted in regard to the details, others replying that the proposition is received sympathetically and expressing a willingness to consider details. The nations, in the order in which they have accepted, are: Italy, Great Britain, France, Brazil, Sweden, Norway, Peru and Russia.

Statement Submitted.

"To those expressing a willingness to confer in regard to the details, a tentative statement has been submitted, embodying details suggested by the president; this statement being submitted for consideration, however, with no intention of insisting on any particular detail. The exact phraseology of the agreements may not be the same in all cases. If the principle is indorsed, the government is willing to confer with open mind as to minor points."

Speaking of the reception his plan has received, Mr. Bryan observed that within the past two months three arbitration treaties have been renewed for a period of five years. The treaties renewed are with France, Italy and Spain, and President Wilson has announced his willingness to renew similar conventions with Great Britain, Japan, Norway, Sweden and Portugal.

Will Wed McAdoo's Son

One of the most beautiful daughters of the south, who will become a June bride, is Miss Ethel McCormick, the strikingly pretty daughter of Mrs. Isaac E. Emerson, and stepdaughter of Captain Emerson. She will be married on June 21 to Francis H. McAdoo, son of the secretary of the treasury. The wedding will be performed at Brooklandwood, the country home of the bride's mother. Brooklandwood is one of the largest estates in Baltimore county and is about twenty miles from Baltimore.

MADDOX IS FIRED BY HEALTH BOARD

Brother of Alderman Was Accused of Insulting Mrs. Charles Kugler.

Inspector Henry M. Maddox, connected with the city sanitary department, was fired by the health board yesterday afternoon.

Maddox, who is a brother of Alderman James W. Maddox, of the fifth ward, was charged with entering the home of Mrs. Charles Kugler, No. 15 West Alexander street, and grossly insulting her. The charges were made by Chief John Jentzen. Mrs. Kugler, the complainant, made a startling statement to the board.

The hearing was behind barred doors in a room from which even reporters were excluded. Maddox was represented by Aldine Chambers, former councilman. Despite efforts on the part of certain members of the board, some portions of the statement made by Mrs. Kugler leaked out. She is said to have told the board that Maddox visited her home in the absence of her husband and insulted her. A charge of disorderly conduct has been made against Maddox as a result of a complaint made by Mrs. Kugler to the police. He will be tried before Recorder Broyles Saturday morning.

Mrs. Kugler spoke freely to Attorney Chambers in the other office of the board of health before the hearing started. Afterwards she declined to speak to newspaper men, explaining that she wanted to be sure the next time."

NEW GRAVE FOR BODY OF BARBARA FRIETCHIE

Frederick, Md., May 30.—The body of Barbara Frietchie, heroine of Whittier's poem and that of her husband, John C. Frietchie, which were recently disinterred from the old Reformed Congregational cemetery here, were deposited in the new mausoleum in Mount Olivet cemetery today. The mausoleum is adjacent to the grave of Francis Scott Key, author of "The Star Spangled Banner." The re-burial was made an occasion for interesting ceremonies. A feature was the recitation of Whittier's poem by Miss Medera Mats, a grand niece of Barbara Frietchie.

LIVES REPORTED LOST IN VIRGINIA CYCLONE

Twenty Houses Blown Down Around Norfolk and Scores of Small Craft Capsized.

Norfolk, Va., May 30.—Accompanied by rain and hail, a cyclonic-like wind storm passed over this section this afternoon and a number of lives are reported lost. Twenty houses were blown down in Berkeley and South Norfolk, but no lives were lost so far as known. Mrs. George Harper was seriously injured when her home in Holly avenue was blown down and a number of others were hurt by falling timbers and flying glass.

Scores of small craft were turned over during the storm and several are reported to have been carried to sea.

The tug Katie Twohy signaled a Bay Line steamer that a small sailing craft went down during the blow and several lives were lost. The crew of the tug attempted to save the men on the ill-fated craft, but were unsuccessful.

The big government wireless mast in the navy yard was completely wrecked and will be out of commission for at least a week. Until it is repaired government messages will be received on board the battleship Michigan, now at the Norfolk navy yard. The roof and part of the "right" side of the house built on the receiving ship Franklin was blown away and liberty parties were countermanded until repairs are made.

The city was in darkness for two hours and electric lights in public places went out while the storm was at its height. An audience gathered in a theater and sang songs in darkness while the orchestra played patriotic airs.

MUD SAVES MAN'S LIFE AFTER 400-FOOT FALL

New York, May 30.—Falling 400 feet from an aeroplane today, Arthur Lampham, a youthful parachute jumper, landed feet first in a Staten island marsh and was buried to his neck in the mud. With ropes and boards he was extricated. He suffered only from shock. Lampham was taken up by Harry B. Brown, an aviator, and was to have made a 500-foot drop. His parachute failed to work when he made his leap.

MARY PHAGAN'S MURDER WAS WORK OF A NEGRO DECLARES LEO M. FRANK

STEVENS IS FREED OF ALL SUSPICION

Police Release Boy and Concentrate Efforts in Search for Walter Wilkes, Negro Farmhand.

No longer suspected of the crime, Wade Stevens, who has been under arrest in connection with the murder of his mother and his foster sister, was yesterday afternoon released from police station. At the same time his companion, "Red" Merchant, was also set at liberty.

Stevens will go to Meansville in the morning to attend the double funeral, and will return with his aged father, William Stevens, and will live with him in their future home, Chattanooga.

Searching for Walter Wilkes, a negro farm hand, who was seen in the vicinity of the burned home on the day of the tragedy, the sheriff of DeKalb county and detectives working on the mystery hope to find the slayer of Mrs. Sarah C. Stevens and her daughter, Nellie, who were murdered and incinerated in the flames of their home on McDonough road.

Wade Stevens, son of the murdered mother, stated at police headquarters Friday afternoon that he had seen Wilkes, who is acquainted with the Stevens family, in Atlanta early during Tuesday night, and that the black had inquired if the mother and daughter would be alone that night.

Wilkes is a former employee of the Stevens home. He was a handy man about the household, and had worked at the place for a number of years. He is a young negro, and all efforts to locate him other than far been unsuccessful. The police of all near-by cities and townships have been notified to look for him.

Wade Stevens Brought Back.

Wade Stevens was returned to Atlanta at 5 o'clock Friday morning, accompanied by "Red" Merchant, the youth with whom he left the city for Chattanooga on the night of his mother's death. Both were in custody of Detective John Black, of police headquarters, their capture, who had arrested them in Chattanooga.

Although suspicion at first reated heavily upon the errant son, detectives now openly admit that they believe in his innocence, and that he is only a victim of circumstances. His story of having talked with the negro in Atlanta is the nucleus of their theory that the black is the murderer.

Young Stevens says that shortly before dark Wednesday night, while he was strolling the streets, he met the negro. He told him that he and the Merchant boy were going to Chattanooga and that his father, William Stevens, was already in the Tennessee city attending the confederate reunion. He says the negro cooked.

"Then your mother and Miss Nellie will be alone at home tonight?"

He quoted "you," leaving the negro and going toward the Terminal station.

Stevens' Story Satisfactory.

Stevens gives a satisfactory account of his movements from the time he left his mother's home early Tuesday morning until he was captured by the detective in Chattanooga. He says that he and Merchant, who had been his friend for years, hoboed their way to Chattanooga on top of a Pullman car of train No. 4 of the Western and Atlantic railroad.

They left the city at 8 o'clock, he says, arriving in Chattanooga within five hours. At 6 o'clock Wednesday morning, he and his companion strolled up Roswell avenue and by the boarding house of his brother, Edward Stevens, at which time his father also stopped while attending the reunion.

When he read of the death of his mother and sister, Stevens says he immediately decided to give himself up and come to Atlanta. He encounteres Detective Black on the streets and surrendered. Merchant was caught a short while later.

While looking into the well at the rear of the ruins Thursday afternoon, Ward S. Green, a newspaper reporter, was overcome by fire damp, and narrowly escaped death. He had reached the water's surface when the stifling gas rendered him insensible. Dangling at the end of the rope by which he was lowered into the well, he was hurriedly pulled to the opening, where it required several minutes to revive him.

Well Is Searched.

The well is to be searched for clues. It is believed that the murderer probably dropped some article into its depths as he fled from the burning home. It was in search of these possible clues that the newspaper man had entered the well.

William Stevens, husband of the dead woman, announced Friday that he would live in Chattanooga in the future with his son, Edward. He will remain in Atlanta, however, until business matters are arranged and the funeral and burial of the wife and daughter are held.

The bodies will be taken to Meansville, Ga., early Sunday morning for services and interment. At first, it was planned to remove them to that place Friday morning. They will be accompanied by Mr. Stevens and members of the immediate family. It is probable that the imprisoned son will be allowed to attend the ceremonies, as he has asked the detectives for that privilege.

"No Man With Common Sense Would Even Suspect That I Did It," Prisoner in Fulton Tower Tells Attache. "It's a Negro's Crime Through and Through." Asserts His Innocence to Turnkeys and to Fellow Prisoners.

"IT'S UP TO MR. FRANK TO TELL THE TRUTH," ASSERTS JAMES CONLEY

"I Believe He'd Let 'Em Hang Me to Get Out of It Himself if He Had the Chance," Says Negro Sweeper—Chief Lanford Is Pleased With Work of Department and Ready for the Case to Come to Trial Immediately.

"No white man killed Mary Phagan. It's a negro's crime, through and through. No man with common sense would even suspect that I did it."

This declaration was made by Leo M. Frank in his cell at the Tower to a jail attache, the attache told a reporter for The Constitution last night. He is also stated to have made incessant pleas of innocence to turnkeys and prisoners who are permitted within the sacred confines of his cell.

No newspaper men are allowed to see him. He has instructed Sheriff Mangum to permit no one in his presence except at his request. The sheriff is obeying the order to the letter. Even Chief Lanford, headquarters detectives and Harry Scott, of the Pinkertons, which agency is in the prisoner's employ, are denied admission to his cell.

Coupled with the declaration Frank is said to have made to the jail attache, comes his statement made Friday to Sheriff Mangum that he knew not who was guilty, but that the murderer should hang. This was made after news reached him of Conley's confession, it is said.

Many Friends Visit Frank.

Frank devours newspaper stories of the Phagan investigation, it is said at the jail. His cell is crowded daily with friends and relatives who bring him dainties and delicacies. His wife now visits him once each day. He talks but little of the crime to anyone beside his friends, and but little is gained from him by the jailers and prisoners who visit him.

James Conley sat on a bunk in his cell at the Tower last night and for an hour freely discussed his grim connection with the Mary Phagan tragedy. He was a willing talker, ready answerer of questions, and throughout the interview he seemed to find relief in relating the narrative of his complicity in Atlanta's most hideous crime, but "I made an affidavit down to police headquarters," he said. "It was the third one I made since they had me arrested. It's the truth, though, the whole truth, and I hope to God that He strikes me dead this very instant if it ain't.

"I was intendin' not to tell the whole truth at first, but I'm fixin' to take care of Mr. Frank like he told me to in the first place. I was going to keep my mouth shut and say nothin', until some of those folks down at the pencil factory opens up and begins tryin' to make out that I killed the little girl, and that I'm trying to save my own neck by fixin' it on Mr. Frank.

Scared Into Confession.

"That made me mad. It didn't make me any madder than it made me scared. I just put it down that if I didn't come on out with the truth, they would get me and hang an innocent nigger. I called for Mr. Detective Black that Saturday and begins to open up. I was afraid even then, though, to tell the whole business.

"Finally, the thing got to workin' in my head so much that I just couldn't hold it any longer. I couldn't sleep, and it worried me mightily. I just decided it was time for me to come

Two Entirely New Pages of Comics Will Appear in Sunday's Constitution

The Sunday Constitution of tomorrow will contain the first of two entirely new comic pages, to which the attention of all readers of the paper is particularly invited. They are the product of two comic artists of national reputation—Roderick Cameron and John Bray.

The characters which they have developed and the "stunts" which they do are extremely clever, original and interesting. Their names and doings will be household words very soon. With the retention of the two most popular of the comic cartoons which have appeared recently, and the addition of the new ones, The Constitution's comic section as a whole is absolutely the best obtainable.

Sammy Wise, of the U. S. A., by Roderick Cameron.

Roderick Cameron is a master of long experience in the creation of Sunday comics, a graduate of the leading art schools of Europe and America, and one of the greatest authorities on color comics in the world. This feature depicts the experiences of a bright American boy, traveling abroad for the first time with his parents, who is quick to notice the striking contrast between the life and customs abroad and those at home, and gets a lot of fun out of his trip by the application of American methods and ideas, as they appear to his young mind, and his cleverness always wins out.

One of the strong features of this page, which will be educational, is that each picture will be artistically drawn, and will show actual scenes abroad.

All of these pictures will have good, clean comic action, with lots of fun and without the coarse and objectionable, so that each of the dozen or more pictures of Sammy Wise of the U. S. A., in each number will be in reality a color postcard, which will reflect life abroad as it looked to Sammy. All people who have traveled abroad will not only enjoy the experiences and fun of Sammy Wise, the quick-witted American boy, but they will remember the actual scenes.

on out with it, and I did. The detectives and Chief Lanford treated me mighty fair, and I felt a whole lot better when I went up before them and told the truth.

"I don't think I slept better in a long time than I slept last night. I knew I had told the truth, and I felt like a clean nigger. They won't do much with me, I don't think. Mr. Hugh Dorsey he came a long time ago when I first started to open up, and told me everything was all right and for me to go ahead with everything I knew."

This is the negro's first statement for publication. He was being visited by his wife, a young mulatto, while the reporter talked with him. He gave her directions regarding obtaining a few personal articles which he would need while in prison.

It's Up To Frank.

"Mr. Frank, he did that murder, and he knows it," the sweeper continued. "It's up to him now to come out with the truth. I done told it, and it's his time. I never saw him do it, and he didn't say he did, but they ain't no doubt that he did do it. If he didn't, then why didn't he go and send for the police when he found the body, stead of havin' me help him carry it down to the basement? That's what I'd like to know.

"He ain't got much chance, Mr. Frank ain't. He must know it, or he'd told the truth a long time ago. I believe he'd let 'em hang me to get out of it himself if he had the chance. He ain't paid me nuthin' yet, like he promised to do, and the only thing I got out of it was that two dollars he gave me in the cigarette box."

He was asked if he knew of the staple being pulled from the door in the basement.

"Naw, sir, I don't know anything 'bout that," he answered. "It must 'a been done after I left, 'cause when I got the chance to get away from that place, I hustled."

Also, the reporter questioned the negro if his connection with the body's disposal was through fear.

"No, sir, it wasn't exactly that. I didn't get scared of Mr. Frank but once, and I don't want to tell what caused me to be 'frail then. I went on ahead with the body like he told me to, 'cause I had been drinking and wasn't exactly in my right mind. Mr. Frank's looks kinder scared me, though, 'cause he looked just for the world like somebody that was crazy. I never saw a man look like he did, and I never want to see another look like that again."

Conley was asked to describe in detail his movements in helping Frank lower the body to the basement, as the negro confesses.

Affidavit Tells Story.

"I done it just like I say in the affidavit. I don't like to talk about it or think about it. The affidavit tells exactly the way we took her to the basement and left her there, and everything else I know about it. I done told everything. There ain't nothin' else for me to tell. I done come clean now, and it's Mr. Frank's time to do the same thing."

Conley gives his age as 27. He has been a laborer all his life. For the past two years he has been employed with the pencil factory. He said Frank had often encountered him in the plant, and frequently stopped to joke with him.

"Mr. Frank, a whole lot of times, when he'd come down the aisle where I was working, 'd stop and guy me a little bit, and then go on 'bout his business. I used to laugh and joke with him some whenever I'd go in his office. That Saturday we moved the body wasn't the first time we'd ever come together.

"He's in bad shape, Mr. Frank is, and I kinder feel for him, although that was a horrible thing he did. If I was him, I'd come out with the truth. It'll be about the best thing for him. I done told it, and what I said in that affidavit Chief Lanford and them have got is the truth 'fore God and high Heaven. If He was to tell me this very minute that He was going to hit me with a streak of lightning if I didn't tell the straight of it, I couldn't say a thing on earth 'cept what's in that affidavit."

Chief Greatly Pleased.

Chief Lanford swung 'round in his swivel chair at the desk of his office in police headquarters yesterday afternoon and faced a group of newspaper reporters who had entered for their hourly conference. There was a smile of victory on his face, and he chuckled inwardly as he reached into a pigeonhole for the final affidavit made by James Conley, the confessed murder accessory.

"I feel like a mountain had been moved from my shoulders," he told the reporters. "I feel more relieved at present than I have felt in my whole career. I'm happy, to tell the truth, happier than I ever will be. The Mary Phagan murder is no longer a mystery. It is cleared, absolutely, and, it my opinion is to be considered, the guilty man will be convicted within thirty days. We are now ready for trial at any time."

He held the negro's affidavit in view, tapped it upon his palm, and continued:

Pleased With the Work.

"This document here is a result of the best piece of detective work performed anywhere in the south. The Pinkertons and the police detectives solved the most baffling mystery of my experience when they obtained this affidavit from Conley. It's worth its weight in gold, and more, too. I wouldn't take a million for it."

Conley was transferred from police headquarters Friday afternoon to a cell in the Tower, where he will be kept until Frank's trial. He is being held as a material wit ess. No bond can be made for h' , and he will be imprisoned in the jail until the exact moment he is called to the witness stand.

Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey said that if the negro's story is true, or that if it even smacked of truth, he would indict him for having been an accessory after the fact. The solicitor says that he believes Conley can be convicted of only a misdemeanor, which merits either imprisonment of one year or a fine of $1,000.

The most dramatic phase of yesterday's developments was the exaction by Conley of his movements on the day of the tragedy, when he says he and Leo Frank lowered Mary Phagan's corpse from the office floor of the factory building to the basement darkness below. With Chief Lanford, Harry Scott, other detectives and a handful of newspaper men, the pencil plant was visited shortly before noon.

Goes Through Pantomime.

The negro's pantomime was thorough in detail. He overlooked no part depicted in his astounding confession of the night before. He often even lay down upon the floor so as to minutely picture the position of the victim's body at certain stages of its removal to the cellar. With wavering voice, that frequently choked slightly as though from some tragic recollection of the grim occurrence, he verbally explained his actions on the murder day.

First, he led the detectives through the second floor to the rear and into a small metal room in which he says he discerned the lifeless form at the direction of his superintendent. He lay down flatly in an obscure corner of the tiny room, distorted his limbs in a crumpled heap, telling his hearers that such was the position in which the body was found.

All workers on the second floor were asked to leave the building during the grim performance. Upstairs, the sound of machinery droned monotonously, unwittingly, upon the sound of tragedy in Forsyth street, but on the office story only the sounds of the negro's voice were to be heard, with the shifting of feet as he moved from one spot to another. The pantomime was shot through and through with a tenseness that thrilled even the sated sleuths and reporters.

The negro told that when he entered the factory Frank had told him to go into the metal room, as there was a girl lying there who had struck her head on a piece of machinery and had been knocked unconscious. Conley says he found the body as he had described, one glance satisfying him that she was dead.

"Mr. Frank," he says he called to the superintendent, "this little girl's stone dead."

Frank ordered him to remove the corpse, he says. He got a piece of corona bagging, hustled the body into it and started to carry it from the tiny death chamber. It was heavy, he says. He stumbled and dropped his tragic load on the floor. He called to Frank, he said, and Frank came to assist him.

Had Legs and Feet.

"Mr. Frank took hold of the legs and feet," the negro told, "and we carried her to the elevator. He switched on the current and ran it down into the basement. He helped me carry her to the sea light at the end of the trap door. He dropped her legs and told me to take the body on down to the further end of the basement.

"I dragged her away down in the back end of the cellar and lay her down. I found one of her shoes and her hat. Mr. Frank told me to throw them in the trash pile close to the boiler, and I did. We got back in the elevator and ascended to the second floor. We went into the office, Mr. Frank closed all the doors and sat down by his desk.

"Suddenly, we heard footsteps. There comes Emma Clark and Corinthia Hall," he said. He shoved me into this wardrobe (Conley indicated the small cabinet in Frank's office), and told me to be right still. He went outside and met the two women. I heard one of them say: 'Are you all alone,' and Frank answered, 'Yes.'

"When Frank came back he let me out, sat back down to his desk and took a seat. He was turning all kind of colors and trembling and was nervous. He took out a piece of paper and asked me to write this: 'Dear brother, a long, tall black negro did this by himself he told me if I would lay down he wood love me play like the night watchman did this boy himself.'

"I wrote it and he told me something about his rich people in Brooklyn. 'Why should I hang?' he said, kinder to himself. He said he was going to send my writing with a letter to his mother, and that if I was a good boy she would send him something. 'My people are rich,' he said, 'why should I hang.' That made twice he said 'why should I hang?'

Told Him Not to Worry.

"I told him that that was alright, Mr. Frank, but what's going to become of me for helping you carry the body down?" He told me not to worry. He handed me a cigarette box and I took a smoke. He said I could keep the box. There was some money in it, $2. I told him about it, and he said: 'that's alright, you can keep the money.'

"He also handed me a roll of $200, I took it in my hand, and in a little while he told me to let him see it. I gave it back and he put it in his pocket. 'I'll fix it with you Monday, if I live,' he told me. The $2 is all the money he has given me. I'm telling the truth, because I read in the newspapers that the folks at the pencil factory were trying to pin the killing on me."

Lucky Sooner Out of City.

The order remanding Conley to the Tower to be held as a material witness was issued by Judge L. S. Roan, of Fulton superior court. The negro says that he will willingly remain in jail, and that he will co-operate with the detectives in any manner throughout the future.

Efforts are still being made to confront the imprisoned factory official with the negro sweeper and his story. Luther C. Rosser, Frank's counsel, is away at present, attending to legal matters in Clayton, but will return shortly. All depends upon him whether or not the detectives will be able to enter the suspect's cell.

Mr. Rosser will be prevailed upon to give Chief Lanford and Harry Scott permission to carry Conley before Frank at an early date. They are extremely anxious for this move, and expect valuable results.

How Confession Was Secured.

Conley had been a prisoner in police station for three weeks, and was about to be freed when Detectives Scott and John Black ran down a clue upon which they based their successful investigation into his connection with the crime.

Conley stoutly maintained all during his imprisonment that he was unable to write, and that he even did not know the alphabet. The sleuths had begun to put faith in his story, and were preparing to give him freedom when the fortunate clue was unearthed.

Detectives Scott and Black were strolling through uptown Saturday morning two weeks ago today. Overhearing a conversation between two men, they learned that one was a collector for a jewelry concern from which the negro sweeper had bought two watches. The detectives heard one of the men tell of possessing a signed receipt from Conley.

The receipt was procured by the detectives. They saw Conley's signature in his own hand, and, upon searching his home ,discovered other evidence of his ability to write in papers they got from his residence. Confronting him with these papers, they obtained the admission that Conley could write.

Handwriting Compares.

On the following Sunday he was forced to give specimens of his script. They compared perfectly with the composition of the murder notes found in the pencil factory basement. He protested, however, that he knew nothing of the crime, and that he had nothing whatever to do with the writing of the notes.

He was impressed with the fact that the comparison of his handwriting with the murder note script was evidence sufficient to convict him of the murder. Then he was sent to solitary confinement in his cell to ponder over the situation and probability of his own implication.

Last Saturday morning, at 5 o'clock, when he awoke and called upon the turnkey for his usual drink of water at that hour, he asked for Detective Black. As soon as Black reported for duty at headquarters he went to the negro's cell.

"Mister Black," Conley said, "I wrote them; I been telling you a lie all along. I'm sorry,—but I did. Mr. Frank, he told me to write 'em, and if he'll tell you the truth, he'll say he did."

Conley was rushed to the office of the solicitor general, where he made affidavit to the effect of his statement to Black. He swore, however, that the notes were written on the Friday before the tragedy. Later he amended this confession with the story that they were written on the afternoon of Mary Phagan's disappearance.

Mrs. Roxie Moore, Toccoa.

Toccoa, Ga., May 30.—(Special.)—Mrs. Roxie Moore, aged 81 years, died early Wednesday after an illness of about five weeks. The immediate cause of her death was due to heart failure, and was not unexpected. The deceased is survived by one daughter and three sons, Mrs. W. M. Kilgo, Toccoa; Messrs. Jesse, Willie and Walter Moore, Atlanta. The remains were taken to Franklin, N. C., the birthplace of the deceased, where the interment was made Thursday morning at 11 o'clock.

Wildcat Still Destroyed.

Bremen, Ga., May 30.—(Special.)—Deputy United States Marshal Jack Spence, of Anniston, destroyed a large "wildcat" distillery a few miles out from Talapoosa this week. From all indications the place had been in full blast up to the time the officer appeared on the scene. No arrests were made, but will, no doubt, be in a short time.

CONLEY TELLS GRAPHIC STORY OF DISPOSAL OF THE DEAD BODY

Following is the complete signed confession of James Conley, the negro sweeper employed at the National pencil factory, which was made to Chief of Detectives Lanford, Chief of Police Beavers, Harry Scott, of the Pinkertons, and others, late Friday afternoon:

"On Saturday, April 26, 1913, when I came back to the pencil factory with Mr. Frank I waited for him downstairs, like he told me, and when he whistled for me I went upstairs and he asked me if I wanted to make some money right quick, and I told him, yes, sir, and he told me that he had picked up a girl back there and had let her fall and that her head hit against something—he didn't know what it was—and for me to move her and I hollered and told him the girl was dead.

"And he told me to pick her up and bring her to the elevator, and I told him I didn't have nothing to pick her up with, and he told me to go and look by the cotton box there and get a piece of cloth, and I got a big wide piece of cloth and come back there to the men's toilet, where she was, and tied her, and I taken her and brought her up there to a little dressing room, carrying her on my right shoulder, and she got too heavy for me and she slipped off my shoulder and fell on the floor right there at the dressing room and I hollered for Mr. Frank to come there and help me; that she was too heavy for me, and Mr. Frank come down ther' and told me to 'pick her up, dam fool,' and he run down there to me and he was excited and he picked her up by the feet. Her feet and head were sticking out of the cloth, and by him being so nervous he let her feet fall, and then he brought her up to the elevator, Mr. Frank carrying her by the feet and me by the shoulder, and we brought her to the elevator, and then Mr. Frank says, 'Wait, let me get the key,' and he went into the office and come back and unlocked the elevator door and started the elevator down.

Frank Turned on Power.

"Mr. Frank turned it on himself, and we went on down to the basement, and Mr. Frank helped me take it off the elevator, and he told me to take it back there to the sawdust pile, and I picked it up and put it on my shoulder again, and Mr. Frank he went up the ladder and watched the trapdoor to see it anybody was coming, and I taken her back there and taken the cloth from around her and taken her hat and shoes which I picked up upstairs right where her body was lying and brought them down and untied the cloth and brought them back and throwed them on the trashpile in front of the furnace and Mr. Frank was standing at the trapdoor.

"He didn't tell me where to put the thing. I laid her body down with her head toward the elevator lying on her stomach, and the left side of her face was on the ground the right side of her body was up and both arms were laying down with her body by the side of her body. Mr. Frank joined me back of the elevator and he stepped on the elevator when it got to where he was and he said 'Gee that was a tiresome job' and I told him his job was not as tiresome as mine was because I had to tote it all the way from where she was lying to the dressing room and in the basement from the elevator to where I left her.

Frank Fell to Floor.

"Then Mr. Frank hops off the elevator before it gets even with the second floor and he makes a stumble and he hits the floor and catches with both hands and he went around to the sink to wash his hands and I went and cut off the motor, and I stood and waited for Mr. Frank to come from around there washing his hands, and then we went into the office, and Mr. Frank, he couldn't hardly keep still. He was all the time moving about from one office to the other. Then he come back into the stenographer's office and come back and told me. Here come Emma Clark and Corinthia Hall.' I understood him to say, and he come back and told me to come here, and he opened the wardrobe and told me to get in there, and I was so how about going he told me to hurry up, damn it, and Mr. Frank, whoever that was come into the office, they didn't stay so very long till Mr. Frank had gone about seven or eight minutes, and I was still in the wardrobe and he never had come to let me out, and Mr. Frank come back and I said, 'Goodness alive, you kept me in there a mighty long time,' and he said, 'Yes, I see.' I did; you are sweated.' And then me and Mr. Frank sat down in a chair. Mr. Frank then took out a cigarette and he give me the box and asked me did I want to smoke, and I told him, 'Yes, sir,' and I taken the box and taken out a cigarette and he handed me a box of matches and I handed him the cigarette box, and he told me that was all right I could keep that. Mr. Frank then asked me to write a few lines on that paper, a white scratch pad he had there, and he told me what to put on there, and I asked him what he was going to do with it, and he told me to just go ahead and write, and then after I got through writing Mr. Frank looked at it and said it was all right, and Mr. Frank looked up at the top of the house and said, 'Why should I hang? I have wealthy people in Brooklyn,' and I asked him what about me, and he told me that was all right about me, for me to keep my mouth shut and he would make everything all right.

Gave Money, but Took It Back.

"And then I asked him where was the money he said he was going to give me, and Mr. Frank said, 'Here is $200,' and he handed me a big roll of greenback money and I didn't count it I stood there a little while looking at it in my hand, and I told Mr. Frank not to take out another dollar for that watch man I owed, and he said he wouldn't—and the rest is just like I told it before. The reason I have not told this before is I thought Mr. Frank would get out and help me out, but it seems that he is not going to get out, and I have decided to tell the whole truth about the matter.

"When I was looking at the money in my hand, Mr. Frank said, 'Let me have that and I will make it all right with you Monday if I live and nothing happens.' And he took the money back and I asked him if that was the way he done, and he said he would give it back Monday.

"JAMES CONLEY."

HARDWARE MEN ELECT HALL AS PRESIDENT

Ninth Annual Convention of Georgia Association Will Be Held in Savannah.

An interesting address by Samuel D. Jones, president of Atlanta stove works, together with the annual election of officers, the selection of Savannah as the next place of meeting and a luncheon at the Piedmont Driving club brought the eighth yearly gathering of the Georgia hardware dealers to a conclusion yesterday at noon.

J. R. Hall, of Moultrie, ever a live figure in the Georgia Retail Hardware association, was elected president without opposition, succeeding T. G. Green, of Eatonton, with John L. Moore, of Madison, who has been secretary-treasurer for the past four years, continued, by unanimous vote, in that position, the duties of which he has so efficiently discharged.

J. H. Harris, of Carrollton, was elected first vice president, and P. S. Twittle, of Dublin, second vice president, while the new executive committee was made up of W. W. Robinson, of Dublin; E. D. Jarman, of Ryley, and C. D. Thomas, of Griffin, all widely known throughout the state in the retail hardware life. J. R. Hall, of Moultrie, the newly elected president, John L. Moore, secretary-treasurer, of Madison, and R. W. Hatcher, of Milledgeville, chairman of the press committee, were named as delegates to the next national convention of the Hardware Men's association.

To show its appreciation of the work R. W. Hatcher, of Milledgeville, chairman of the press committee, has done for the association, President Green presented him with a handsome gold watch.

As the convention was adjourning to take cars to the Piedmont Driving club for luncheon a halt was called by J. R. Hall, newly-elected president, to present Mrs. Green, of Eatonton, wife of the retiring president, a huge bouquet of most exquisite and attractive design, a gift from the association.

PRISONER GETS THROUGH HOLE 6 BY 10 INCHES

Lawrenceville, Ga., May 30.—(Special.)—Jeff Griffin, colored, escaped from the Gwinnett county jail last night, and is still at large. He was locked in a cage with Robert McNeal, another negro, and got out by squeezing through the door where food is passed in. The hole is only 6 by 10 inches, and his companion says it took Griffin over an hour to get through the hole. After getting out of the cage he crawled on top of it and lay quiet until after night, when he escaped from the corridor by picking a lock on the back door.

A white hobo tried to notify the sheriff's wife that the negro was getting away, but she failed to find the note he wrote her until 10 o'clock at night. Sheriff Garner being out of town, Deputy Sheriff Boss was notified, and he at once set out in pursuit of the escaped prisoner.

About three weeks ago Griffin and McNeal escaped from the jail, but were soon recaptured, and last week they were discovered trying to break the bolts from their cell door with a chisel and bar of iron. The two negroes were being held for robbing a house near Suwanee a few weeks ago.

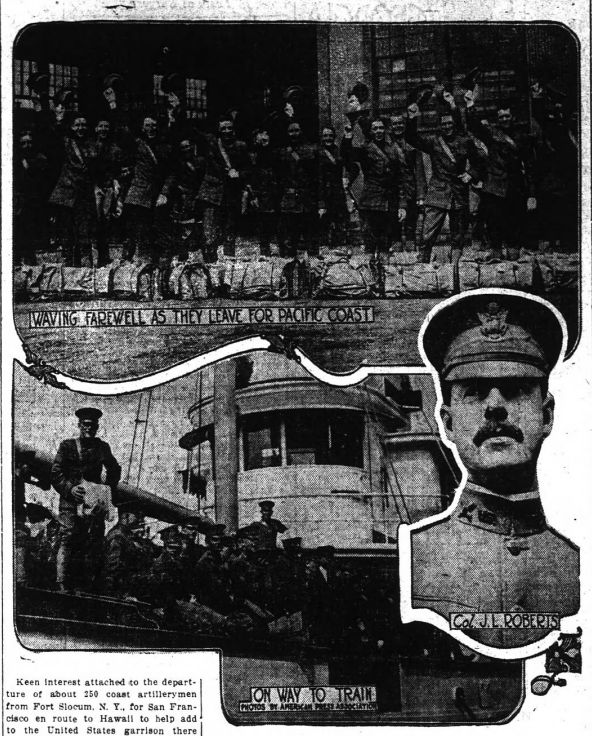
Uncle Sam Strengthening Pacific Defenses



Keen interest attached to the departure of about 250 coast artillerymen from Fort Slocum, N. Y., for San Francisco en route to Hawaii to help add to the United States garrison there. Coming at a time when the international relations with Japan were strained over the California anti-alien land matter, the transfer of the troops aroused much comment. It was stated by the government authorities that the order for the transfer was given several months ago, before the Japanese question came up, and it was claimed the present activity had nothing to do with the threatened Oriental situation. But at the same time public interest was manifested over the strengthening of the Pacific stations. It became known that during the past year over 7,000 troops have been sent to that section of our national defenses. Captain J. L. Roberts, eight noncommissioned officers and 236 privates of the United States Army Artillery corps started on the journey of more than 7,000 miles. They were carried by transport from Fort Slocum, on the sound, to the Pennsylvania station at Jersey City, where they boarded a special train of six Pullman sleepers, a dining car and a baggage car. The men carried only bags and haversacks and had the aspect of a peaceful mission, as they carried no arms. The only weapons visible were the revolvers of the officers. The movement had been so quietly made that not a score of relatives and friends were at the station to say goodby to the departing troopers. One of the officers said the men were seasoned soldiers; all had served in the regular army as artillerymen and had re-enlisted.

HE REPUDIATES TALE OF MURDERING MEAGHER

Missoula, Mont., May 30.—Conflicting statements made by Pat Miller, alias Frank Diamon, who confessed last Tuesday on what he supposed was his deathbed, to several murders and later repudiated his confession when brought to jail here, today led the authorities to set afoot a thorough investigation.

Diamon said he was the slayer of General Meagher, a territorial governor of Montana, who was lost from a river steamer in 1867. He denied all knowledge of the supposed crime today, but admitted having been employed as a wood cutter at Fort Benton, where General Meagher was drowned. His "confession" said he received $8,000 for getting rid of Meagher.' Today he said he had made that amount by the sale of a mine at about the time of Meagher's death, and used it to visit Ireland.

OLD GUARD CELEBRATES MEMORIAL AT BOSTON

Atlanta Visitors Place Wreath on Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument on the Common.

Boston, Mass., May 30.—(Special.)—Boston's Memorial day celebration today was marked by the presence for the first time of forty members of the Old Guard of Atlanta, Ga. The men who wore the "Gray" joined with the men who wore the "Blue," in honoring Boston's soldier dead at the state house, on Boston common and in Tremont temple.

Edward W. Kinsley Post No. 113, G. A. R., was Memorial day host for the Georgia visitors. The Boston "vets" and the southerners marched to the state house, escorted by the First Corps cadets and the Coast Artillery Corps band.

With the band playing "The Star Spangled Banner," the union and Confederate veterans filed up the state house steps and into the beautiful hall of flags. Following the formal salute to the flags, there was an address by Rev. Thomas Van Ness, of Brookline.

Then they marched out to the Soldiers' and Sailors' monument on Boston common. Addresses were delivered at the monument by Rev. Edward A. Horton, chaplain of the Massachusetts senate; Commander Ferris, of Kinsley post, and Colonel Joseph F. Rourke, of the Gate City guard.

As the veterans placed flowers about the base of the monument, the southerners decorated the shaft with wreats of Georgia laurel, one wreath being inscribed "Old Guard, Atlanta, Georgia."

Later the wives and daughters of the visitors threw flowers about the monument. Then the Union and Confederate veterans marched to Tremont temple, where they heard a Memorial day address by former State Senator William A. Morse. The Atlantans took the 6 o'clock train tonight for home.

SOUTHBOUND FLYER HIT A FREIGHT TRAIN

Nashville, Tenn., May 30.—The St. Louis and Jacksonville Dixie Flyer, southbound, collided early this morning three miles north of Martin, Tenn., with a northbound freight. The collision occurred on the Illinois Central line.

It is reported here that the engineer and fireman of the passenger train and the baggagemaster, Thomas Dickerson, of Nashville, were injured.

A telephone message says some passengers sustained minor injuries, bruises or cuts from flying glass and such were carried to Fulton, Ky. It is said the passenger crew saw the oncoming freight and stopped their train. The freight, on a down grade, could not stop. Eighteen freight cars were ditched.

The wreck was cleared by 10 o'clock.

HUFF CONTEMPT CASE DECISION IS DELAYED

Macon, Ga., May 30.—(Special.)—The opinion of Judge W. I. Grubb, of Birmingham, in the Huff contempt case, which was expected to arrive today, will not reach Macon until next Tuesday. Advices from Birmingham this morning were to the effect that Judge Grubb had delayed mailing his opinion until next Monday.

There was considerable interest when the announcement was made that the opinion was expected today, and the court officials and a number of others waited expectantly all morning. However, after the Birmingham mail had been distributed and the official package was found to be missing. Birmingham was communicated with, and it was then learned that Judge Grubb had decided not to send the opinion until next Monday.

In the meantime Colonel W. A. Huff, Macon's 82-year-old ex-mayor, is going about his usual duties, with no manifestation of uneasiness and, to all appearances, his friends are more worried over the outcome than he is.

The charges of contempt of court grew out of letters written by Colonel Huff to Judge Speer, in which the latter's handling of the Huff estate in the bankruptcy court was severely criticised.

MEETING AN EMERGENCY.

Every other consideration is now subordinate to the duty of council to find a way out of the wilderness into which the city has drifted with reference to the disposal of garbage. The issue is one of life and death, not of partisanship or expediency. Alderman Van Dyke sounds the keynote. He was among those who originally and with vigor opposed the location of the crematory upon the present site. Yet now that the supreme court decision has, in a way, left Atlanta facing an impasse, he throws aside politics and gauges his actions purely by the test of the public welfare. "It is not a question of how it can be done," he says; "it is simply a question of the city doing the only sensible and safe thing that is left for it to do"—to put the crematory to work! "And," he continues, "I say solemnly, as a physician, that unless this crematory is put to work as soon as possible the penalty of many deaths this summer is going to be put on somebody's head."

That is the naked truth of the situation, and it cannot be evaded. If this crematory will do what is claimed for it some plan should be devised by which it may be put to work. Quibbles aside, it is ideally located. It is almost in the geographical center of the city, as a single-system crematory should be, yet by a constructive paradox it is so placed as to menace neither business houses nor residences. Four or five years of discussion, squabbling and investigation have been required to fix the method to be used and agree on the location. Four or five years more would be consumed in opening the controversy and again deciding it. And the exigencies of the situation will not permit a delay of even four or five weeks!

Here is a plant that will be ready for operation within two to three weeks. Its efficiency remains to be demonstrated. That done, some way should be found to pay for it within the law. In previous crises of a life and death nature partisanship has been thrown to the winds in Atlanta and patriotism has successfully taken its place. It is to the patriotism of council that Atlanta calls for protection in the present crisis. The need is solemn and emergent. The Constitution has every confidence that it will be promptly met.

If worst comes to worst and no other way offers, this crisis can be met by the policy of absolute stagnation and paralysis for a year. Every other improvement, every demand upon the city's current income, however imperative, could be suspended and the funds diverted to meet this one great emergency. That would, of course, be a calamity. Cities never stand still, but go forward or backward. If Atlanta employed this last desperate resort the city would be sentenced—to go backward for a year.

We are convinced that the finance committee and council can find some way whereby the city's health may be protected without adopting a policy of scuttle and stagnation. It is inconceivable that every channel of development should be dammed up for a year, as would be threatened if current revenues were diverted to meet this urgent need. It is inconceivable that every municipal need, every cry of expansion should be compelled to mark time for a year. That would be the worst catastrophe in the city's history. Atlanta would be years in recovering from its effect.

In a moment of desperate crisis we believe council has the ingenuity and the patriotism to find a sure way out. Whatever happens, Atlanta's health must be safeguarded; and whatever happens, it must be accomplished without condemning Atlanta to stagnation for an entire year.

THE FATEFUL BOLL WEEVIL.

State Entomologist Lee Worsham announces that the Mexican cotton weevil will reach Georgia during the early part of the forthcoming August. It will strike the southwestern part of the state the first year, probably infecting the counties of Clay, Early, Decatur and Miller. Already the weevil is in Alabama and moving rapidly toward the Georgia line. During 1914 other Georgia counties will be invaded, and in the course of the next two or three years the entire cotton belt will be subject to the plague.

If the comparison may be used in so extreme a case, the boll weevil in Georgia and other southern states will come in the nature of a blessing in disguise; at least, for its depredations there will be the consoling feature that farmers who would otherwise resist the doctrine of diversification indefinitely will be driven to diversification. The boll weevil will be at once the taskmaster that drives to diversification and the emancipator that liberates from the tyranny of all cotton.

When the pest from across the Rio Grande invades a district it takes complete possession. The farmer cannot restrict it to suit his plans. He must restrict his plans to suit the boll weevil. So since cotton is the only article of diet for the insect, all planting plans are laid to circumvent the weevil as far as possible, then to produce crops that are immune to the plague. Remedy after remedy has been tried against the insect, and all are failures, so far as stamping him out is concerned. He resists the ordinary poisons and antidotes. The only manner in which he can hopefully be combatted is to plant cotton of an early maturing variety, so as to "beat the weevil to it," to burn over the fields each fall, and in the interim to take such physical measures as may keep down the numbers of the trouble-maker, such as hand-picking from stands of cotton. Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas and Alabama have for some time been plagued by the weevil, but still make good crops of cotton through the use of these methods.

The main thing is to prepare agricultural systems for the changed conditions that come with the advent of the weevil. Georgia has had years to accomplish this. In addition, the soil of the state adapts itself ideally to diversification. Even after the plague has reached its maximum in this state, our revenues from the soil should not show a decrease. They should even show an increase. For the food-crops that the weevil will force us to raise, and the beef as well, are just as good makers of dividends as cotton. And Georgia can stand a tolerably heavy tribute to the weevil, if she can cut off the many millions we now send outside the state for feedstuffs.

AN IRREVERENT AGE.

In his recent address before the Georgia Bar association at Warm Springs, former Supreme Court Justice Andrew Cobb stated, as follows, some of the disquieting tendencies of our day:

> We are living in an irreverent age. We are also living in an age that is irrelevant. Men who have lost the sense of reverence, or wilfully disregard its promptings, challenge the attention of the public and pose as the leaders of thought. Facts which are immaterial, which have no real protective force, are adroitly used as reasons for determination of issues and in favor of the side which should not prevail. Reason, experience and the better impulses seem to be at a discount, and prejudice and the lower instincts are appealed to to furnish the basis for action.

Boiled down, this means that we are living in a half-baked age, and the assertion is largely true. The old and somewhat silly saw runs that "a cat may look at a king." We have, unconsciously, taken the philosophy of the saying to bolster up a false interpretation of democracy. The result is that our perspective is all awry. We're getting cats and kings mixed with ludicrous and harmful frequency. The demagogue masquerades as the statesman. The layman, unlearned in the law, knows more than the judge and wants to recall the latter for deciding upon principles and equity rather than upon transient popular whims. The muck-raker masters, overnight, the difficulties of every business and industry, and lambasts the men who have spent their lives in it.

Nothing is sacred, nothing immune from the "higher criticism" of the half-baked. The man in the street, just able to write his name, is qualified to discard the constitution which is the sheet-anchor of our institutions. The jingo newspaper is equipped to pass on grave international issues in a ferment of jingoism and shout its head off to involve this country in war.

Progress is excellent, indispensable to life. But, isn't Judge Cobb right? Do not we of this age need at least a tincture of the sobering reverence and relevancy of the fathers? Are we not in danger of forgetting that the "world was made when a man was born?"

The English suffragettes are burning everything except the woods.

The Place to Get a "Show."

A Georgia farmer advertises in a weekly paper:

"Folks that are always complaining that they 'never had a show' can get one by applying to me. I'll give 'em all the show they want, ten hours a day, on a 20-acre farm."

A Pennsylvania woman who is 100 years old never wore a hat. There may be a lesson in this, but the millinery stores will not feel any falling off in trade.

The mystery of it is, you can't make an officeseeker believe that a $5,000 farm is a better investment than a $500 office.

The funny feature of Roosevelt's suit is that his lawyer thinks he has discovered an editor who is worth $10,000.

And soon the young man from college will return home to tell his dad that he's behind the times.

Colonel Roosevelt's testimony in court reads like advance sheets from his autobiography.

A Story of the Moment

By WALT MASON,
The Famous Prose Poet

Feats of Surgery.

"I went over to see Mrs. Punkjoy this afternoon," announced Mrs. Jamesworthy. "She has just returned home from the hospital, where she underwent an operation for some stomach trouble. She says she'll have to return for another operation as soon as she is strong enough."

"I know what you are driving at, Mrs. Jamesworthy," replied her husband. "This thing of being operated on by surgeons at the hospital has become a sort of fad in your set, supplanting bridge whist, and a woman feels that she isn't in the swim unless she has been carved a few times. I suppose Mrs. Punkjoy is all swelled up with false pride, and I'm rather surprised that she would consent to see you, but she probably concluded to use you for advertising purposes. You are expected to go around the neighborhood telling all about Mrs. Punkjoy's distinction, and making everybody envious, and I suppose you'll fall for it.

"But I see it in your eyes, and hear it in your voice, that you want me to put up the price of a surgical operation so you can appear in society without being humiliated, but I warn you right here and now that I won't do it. I'm wasting old, Mrs. Jamesworthy. Silver threads among the gold shine upon my brow today. Life is fading fast away. My one ambition is to save up enough kopecks so that when old age comes on, and I am wearing slippers and long white whiskers, I'll be able to indulge in fried liver at least once a week. I think I deserve that much after all my strenuous years in the clanging mart. But if I permit you to take up this new fad, and go to the hospital every other week to have a part of your anatomy removed, I see quite plainly where I'll get off, and that is at the poorhouse. So just put this notion out of your head. I'm always willing to buy you a bottle of stomach bitters or a box of green pills for piebald people, but I draw the line at having you mangled by the sawbones at $50 a throw. That sort of sport is for the idle rich.

"I don't see what the world is coming to, anyhow. I can't keep cases on the women any longer. They have me traveling in circles. When I was young the woman who wanted to cut a wide swath in society and hold up her nose at an angle of forty-five degrees claimed that her ancestors came over in the Mayflower, with William the Conqueror. I heard so many chesty dames make that claim that I used to wonder how many acres of deck room they had on the Mayflower. The vessel must have been considerably larger than an onion ranch in Texas. The claims of those oppressive females seemed rather ridiculous then, but at least they were not expensive, and husbands had a chance to carry an occasional coin to the building and loan joint.

"But all that sort of thing is done away with now. You never hear the good old Mayflower mentioned in polite conversation. When society women get together they begin recounting their adventures at the hospital or sanitarium, and the woman who has been mutilated the most gets the goldheaded cane and is recognized as the first lady of the town. In the old days women took some pride in their accomplishments. One could play the piano to beat Sam Hill, and another was the best breadmaker in seven states, and a third could do things at the quilting frames that would set your teeth on edge. There was some sense in pride of that kind.

"But the old order changeth, Mrs. Jamesworthy, and today a woman has no standing in society unless she has the blue prints showing that several of her ribs were extracted by the painless surgeon. I'd rather see you drop out of society altogether than gain eminence by such methods. So if you wish to please your tollworn husband you'll refer to this subject no more, and tell Mrs. Punkjoy that she'll have to get another press agent, as you have some fish of your own to fry at home."

BYSTANDERS.

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

You are either on the side lines or else in the Game. If you are on the side lines you are merely watching. Lou are inactive. You are contributing to your personal pleasure. If you are in the Game you are playing hard, you are getting pleasure and you are contributing Service.

You will always get more pleasure out of the Game if you are a Player instead of a Bystander.

All along the streets of any town or city are lined the Bystanders. Inside the Stores and Offices and Factories are housed the Workers. The Workers are the ones who support the Bystanders.

Let no man do for you what you ought to do for Yourself.

To be the mere titleholder of a Job counts for little. You must be the Job in every sense of the word or else you may be classed with the Bystanders.

The worst thing about the Bystander is that he Contributes neither to himself nor other people -he's a Blank.

The surest law in the world is the law of Compensation. Its Justice works continually. If you do a Service you get back a Service. If you do Nothing you get back Nothing. Mere existence is not Living.

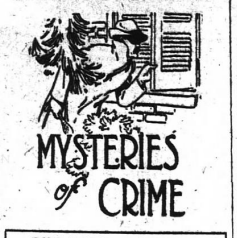
The World's Mysteries



THE FAKE TICHBORNE.

The Tichborne case was one of the most remarkable in recent annals of crime. It was the attempt of a "missing heir" to obtain the fortune of a wealthy Englishman. This case has been almost forgotten, although forty years ago it was a subject of international comment.

There were many most peculiar circumstances surrounding this case, and there are many people today who are not convinced that Arthur Orton, the claimant, was not the son of the rich Sir Edward Tichborne. Tichborne was a wealthy English baronet. He had no son, and his nephew inherited his fortune as well as his title. The nephew, James Tichborne, had two sons, Roger and Alfred. The elder of these sons was a rather wild character, and his dissipation drove him out of the English army. He wandered to South America, where he spent the life of an adventurer.

Finally word reached that country that Sir Edward was dead and that Roger was now direct heir to the title and estates. He sailed from Rio de Janeiro for New York. Some mishap befell the vessel on the voyage, and it never reached its destination, nor was anything ever heard of its fate or of that of the crew and passengers.

After a long period, when Roger Tichborne did not appear, the Tichborne fortune and the title was given to the younger brother, Alfred. Lady Tichborne, however, never gave up hope of Robert's return. She finally began to advertise for him, and offered a considerable reward. In response to this advertising an Australian detective agency produced a "missing heir," who was known under the name of Thomas Castro. He said he had been picked up, with eight other sailors, from the missing vessel, and was living in Australia under an assumed name.

The claimant finally went to Europe, and Lady Tichborne declared she recognized him and welcomed him as her long lost son. Officers in his former regiment also recognised him, and so did many other people, including old family servants. He was able to answer all questions, even the most intimate ones asked of him.

In 1868 Lady Tichborne died and the claimant began suit to recover what he declared to be his fortune and his title. The case came to trial in 1871. Castro, lacking funds, issued bonds which he promised to take up when he obtained his fortune. These bonds found ready purchasers. The trial lasted 102 days.

During its progress he proved that a scar on his head and a brown spot on his side were such marks as Roger had borne, and he was also able to produce sailors who swore that they had assisted in his rescue from the wrecked vessel Bella.

The defense conducted the case with great vigor and made an effort to prove that he was Arthur Orton, the son of a London butcher, who had emigrated to Australia. The legal battle waged fiercely, but finally Castro lost his suit. He was thereupon arrested and placed on trial for perjury, as were also several of his witnesses. The hearing continued for 188 days, and the indignant British populace subscribed large sums of money to assist Castro, the working people especially believing in him.

He was found guilty and sentenced to fourteen years in prison. The case, up to his sentence, had cost more than $1,000,000; the Tichborne estates had to be heavily mortgaged and hundreds of poor people lost all their money.

After ten years Castro was set free and in 1886 came to the United States to lecture. This venture was a failure and he returned to Europe and in 1895 published his "Confession." This he sold to a London newspaper for a large sum. This "Confession" was full of doubtful statements and was, in its way, harder for some people to believe than had been his original story.

When he died on April 1, 1898, his death certificate and the plate upon his casket bore the name "Sir Roger Tichborne." Finally the affair was almost entirely forgotten, although it was revived in 1907 when an aged man who said he was Roger Tichborne died in the King's hospital, Brooklyn. He said that he had reached England from South America in 1856, but was spirited out of the country with the threat that he would be killed if he ever returned to London to try to enforce his claim. This mystery has never been satisfactorily cleared.

The Circus

By GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Siwash"

(Copyright, 1913, for The Constitution.)

The circus struggled along for several centuries in a mild form, but when P. T. Barnum took hold of it and plastered it over the billboards of the country, it became great.

There are two kinds of circuses. One is a super-colossal and titanically tremendous aggregation of the world's wildest wonders and demonically death-defying daredevils gathered into one unprecedented and unimaginable galaxy under the greatest canvas in ancient or modern history. The circus can be found on any billboard during the summer, and draws millions of eager watchers.

The other kind of circus is chiefly awe-inspiring for the ease with which it flits from hither to yon. A circus carrying a thousand people and 500 varieties of fierce and fragrant beasts will slip into a town at 6 a. m., and by breakfast time will have set up ten acres of tents and will have its calliope fired up.

Circuses consist of menageries, the big show and the side show. The menagerie is carried for the purpose of providing an excuse for parents to bring their children, and thus come themselves. The side show is a method of working over the tailings, and getting such dimes as the big show has overlooked. The big show itself consists of three kaleidoscopic rings and two dazzling platforms, all filled with beautiful ladies and lithe gentlemen in pink, blue, crimson and green tights and performing athletic feats which have to be seen several times to be believed.

In the big show men perform feats of agility which make a politician, scrambling from party to party, look clumsy, and women ride galloping horses, balanced on one toe. Loop-the-loop men jump half-way down the jaws of death and then back out, and elephants and seal orchestras play Wagner. No one has ever seen all that has happened in a circus except one man, and he died the next day from an over-heated bearing in his neck.

"Providing an excuse for parents to bring their children."

Circuses travel from town to town and collect each day three hogsheads full of dollars. There are a large number of circuses, and each one is the greatest one on earth. What is a little thing like a dozen superlatives to a business which makes a city do one night stands, and which makes a fool of the attraction of gravitation a hundred times in an afternoon.

WHY JAPAN IS HURT AS BOSTON SEES IT

(Correspondent Boston Transcript.)

Viscount Chinda has endeavored to impress upon the state department the fact that the pride of his people has been wounded, their feelings hurt, and in their belief their national honor reflected upon by the time and the manner of the anti-Japanese legislation in California. For the purpose of cementing friendly relations between the two countries, the Yamamoto ministry determined to make a handsome appropriation for the California exposition. The amount agreed upon was $1,300,000 yen. It was felt that this would prove to California and the United States generally the friendly feelings of the Japanese people, an evidence of the disappearance of any resentment resulting from the controversy over the school question in California some years ago. The very state with which Japan proposed to cultivate a feeling of friendship is the state which has on the eve of the exposition undertaken to slap the Japanese aliens in the face.

A Question of National Honor.

If the Tokio government based its protest on a question of treaty interpretation the way would be opened to a court settlement, but the ground for protest is much broader, it is based upon the general proposition of international comity and counsel in terms that touch upon the spirit of our treaty relations. In short, the protest of Japan forecasts a determination to insist upon equality of treatment for all aliens in this country, Asiatic and European alike. This could only come about by admitting the Japanese to citizenship or by undertaking the repeal of all state enactments which differentiate between aliens eligible to citizenship and those who are not. The latter cannot be done except where such enactments conflict with the terms of existing treaties, nor can the Japanese government formally insist that a foreign government permit Japanese citizens to expatriate themselves.

A New Treaty.

The effort of the United States will doubtless be to negotiate a new treaty and find a way out of the present difficulty that shall at the same time allay the feelings of the Japanese without sacrificing the right of this government to determine who shall become citizens and who shall be excluded. That is a well-accepted principle of international law. The American people will not submit to arbitration such a question of domestic policy, but many people believe that the United States can afford to volunteer to Japan to admit those Japanese to citizenship who are now permitted to enter this country. The number is not large and would not subject the Pacific coast to no economic hardships. If Japan in a new treaty will undertake rigidly to exclude all classes from immigration to this country except the limited number who are now admitted under the verbal agreement between the two governments, popular sentiment east of the Mississippi and north of Mason and Dixon's line would probably favor granting to Japanese aliens the right to citizenship. This would not be in accession to any demand on the part of Japan, for that demand has not been made, nor could it be. It would be an act of comity on the part of the United States, and would be hailed by Japan as evidence that its aliens were accorded the same treatment given aliens of other countries. It is to be seriously doubted, however, whether a democratic administration, whose platforms in the past have contained rigid exclusion planks, would be willing to make such an offer to Japan. The only other way to compel equality of treatment for all aliens is for those states making such discrimination to repeal their laws on the subject. That the Pacific coast states will not. Will Japan be satisfied with anything short of equality of treatment for aliens? That question constitutes the crisis today between the two countries.

PRESSING NEED FOR VITAL STATISTICS LAW

Chamber of Commerce to Co-Operate With Doctors in Securing Legislation.

That the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce will add its weight to the influence of medical societies and others interested in securing legislation requiring the compilation of vital statistics in Georgia was indicated by the enthusiasm shown on the subject by the committee on vital statistics of that body, which had its first meeting yesterday afternoon. Alfred C. Newell is chairman and Dr. Stuart Roberts secretary of the committee.

Dr. J. P. Kennedy, city health officer, appeared before the committee and told of the interest felt by the United States government in the subject as proved by a conversation which he had recently with Dr. Wilbur, chief statistician at Washington. Dr. Wilbur called attention to the fact. Dr. Kennedy said that Georgia was one of four states in the union that had no legislation on the subject and that he regarded such legislation as essential not only to the good health of the state, but also to its reputation abroad.

Dr. Roberts said that he had lately been in correspondence with Dr. Wilbur on the subject. Dr. Wilbur wrote that he had received a letter from a man in Idaho, who contemplated moving his family to Ware county, Georgia, and who wanted some figures as to the death rate of the community, prevalence of various diseases, etc. He was unable to give the information desired because there was no law for the compilation of vital statistics in the state. Dr. Wilbur wrote further that it was impossible for the United States to gather data as to pellagra, bookworm, typhoid and other diseases prevalent in the state without some system of vital statistics.

Attention was called to the fact that only two cities in the state made any attempt to keep vital statistics, Atlanta and Savannah.

The co-operation of the committee was pledged to the county and state medical societies in their effort to secure proper legislation on the subject.

GEORGIA OSTEOPATHS TO EXAMINE WHITMAN

At the meeting today at the Imperial hotel of the Georgia Osteopathic association a special demonstration of his ability to throw his organs out of place at will is to be given by Ellis Whitman, who for the past several days has been astonishing Atlanta physicians by some of the stunts his loose ligaments allow him to perform.

Whitman's ability to throw his shoulders out of joint, move his heart from its normal place until its beating can be felt at his waist line, and throw his hips and even parts of his spine out of position has been observed by numbers of Atlanta physicians and were the subject of wonder at a meeting of the Grady hospital staff.

Dr. W. H. Bowdoin, president of the association, has retained the human contortionist for the demonstration which will be shown today before the association, whose specialty is the work on the human anatomy through a knowledge of muscles and ligaments.

SERMON IN OWN TONGUE FOR ATLANTA SWEDES

Scandinavians living in Atlanta will have the rather rare treat of listening to a preacher in their own language at the English Lutheran church tomorrow afternoon. The Rev. A. A. Swanlund, pastor of a Swedish Lutheran church at Thorsby, Ala., is in the city, after paying a visit to the Swedish colony at Fruitland, seventy-three miles from here, and it has been arranged for him to preach at the Lutheran church tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. In the evening at 8 o'clock Mr. Swanlund will again address his compatriots at the residence of A. Johnson, 28 Cherokee street. It is anticipated that nearly all the Swede living in Atlanta and the vicinity will take advantage of these opportunities of having a minister address them in their own tongue.

A great number of visitors are already in the city, all the hotels being crowded to their capacity.

The alumnae reception for the last two years has been a combination of this affair and the junior promenade, and is the only purely social features of the commencement attracting large numbers of former students and many young men.

The regular schedule of classes will be continued right up to Saturday noon.

A meeting of the board of trustees will be held at 3 o'clock Saturday, at which the regular election of next year's faculty will take place.

IMPRESSIVE EXERCISES AT ANDERSONVILLE

Andersonville, Ga., May 30.—(Special.)—The annual memorial services of the Grand Army of the Republic were beautifully and impressively observed here today in the National cemetery.

The invocation was by Chaplain and addresses were made by Post Commander W. H. Walcott, of Fitzgerald, and Department Commander Colonel Whitman. The oration was by Rev. A. S. Peterson, pastor of the Methodist church of Fitzgerald, Ga.

A fairly good number of ex-Confederate soldiers were in attendance. The crowd was estimated at one to two thousand.

The National cemetery is one of the most beautiful, if not the most beautiful, parks in the state, and there are 13,722 federal soldiers buried here.

No troops were sent here today as heretofore, but not a single disorder occurred.

GWINNETT COUNTY MAN IS FOUND DEAD IN BED

Lawrenceville, Ga., May 30.—(Special.)—Othnile Davis was found dead in his bed by his wife this morning when she awoke to prepare the morning meal.

Mr. Davis was about 60 years of age, and resided 1½ miles above Lawrenceville, at the camp ground, of which he had been custodian for thirty years. He retired the night before in usual health, and it is supposed he died from heart failure.

He is survived by his wife and one son, William Davis, of Buford, and two daughters. The remains will be buried at Prospect church Saturday morning.

COMMENCEMENT IS HELD AT THOMASVILLE

Thomasville, Ga., May 30.—The last of the commencement exercises of the Vashti Home, held at Young's college auditorium last night, marked the close of the school year of that well-known institution.

There were eleven young women in the graduating class of 1913.

On Wednesday afternoon an industrial exhibit was given at the home, together with interesting field day exercises.

On Wednesday night the commencement sermon to the graduating class was preached by Rev. J. B. Johnstone, of the Thomasville Methodist church.

When the school reopens next fall the buildings of Young's college will be in readiness for occupancy by the school, which will doubless be a very large one, as the only drawback has been that the applicants for room at the home were so many that there was not room to receive them all.

Work of Building Roads And Building Men the Same

The economic and practical business end of prison reform is set before the public in a remarkable statement just issued by Secretary Philip Weltner, of the Prison association of Georgia, in which he shows that in this state the task of building roads and the task of building men is one and the same.

The prison association of Georgia is not opposed, he says, to working convicts on the road; it is simply opposed to the way in which they are now working. If the system is improved, he says, the first obvious result to the state will be the building of better roads. Says Mr. Weltner in part:

"It requires intelligence of a high order to direct road work. It requires intelligence of a high order to direct men into paths of rectitude. But intelligence will not now do service in Georgia's penal system, because it will not undertake the responsibility of a position whose main function is to guard and, when necessary, to bully human beings. An efficient highway engineer would not accept the position of road boss for love or money, because it would at times force him to play the role of a brute. The present system tends to discourage the exercise of humanity by those in authority. There are, of course, exceptions.

"Students of the problem usually conclude that the fault with Georgia's penal system lies in the type of men employed to work the convicts, but the situation calls for a closer analysis of the facts. The system makes it profitable for the convict to shirk his work as much as he dares. More guards must therefore be employed, and these must constantly be on the alert. The road boss must be in continual readiness with the lash. If such a condition of affairs is inimical to ordinary business, the same rule would apply to the business of making roads. What we must do in Georgia is to reverse this condition of affairs. We must initiate a system which will encourage the convict.

"The principle features of the reforms which the Prison association is endeavoring to bring about are of a practical and common-sense nature, indorsed by nearly all the superior and criminal court judges in the state, and by many officials. There is nothing visionary or unreasonably radical about the work we are carrying on."

Three Kids Playing "One-Eyed Cat" Entertain Audience of Three Hundred

"Slide, 'skinny,' slide!"

"Put 'er over—aw, quit delayin' ther game."

No, it didn't happen on the sacred field of Ponce de Leon, nor at Brooklyn's new home, either. Tyrus, the great, wasn't stealing second, nor was Rube Waddell back in the box. It was just a little game of "one-eyed cat," played by three street waifs in the railroad yards below the Whitehall viaduct yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Three little chaps, who had nowhere else to play, had stolen into the yards, and with a big stick for a bat and a yarn ball, entertained three hundred spectators above in reserved standing places on the viaduct.

For the moment everybody stopped. The merchant prince and the day-laborer stood side by side, hanging over the railing, shouting as though it was the Fourth of July at Ponce de Leon.

"My, but that's the way I used to play ball when a youngster," said a bespectacled man with gray locks where more should have been. Down in the yards a switch engine panted, the fireman leaned out of his cab, and yelled:

"Send a line drive, sonny," and the little fellow at bat lined one out good for a run any day.

Then just as he touched the base that was first, second and third, and started toward home, with the fielder jumping over tracks after the pill, a big watchman ran out from under the viaduct.

"Here, you kids beat it before I run you in."

And they did.

"Skinny," one young fellow on the viaduct said. "'Skinny' was good for home on that if ever a fellow was."

And then the crowd dispersed, some going this way, and some that. Many thinking of days in the corner lot, when "one-eyed cat" was all the rage.

CHANGES ARE ASKED IN GARNISHMENT LAW

Merchants Hold Meeting to Indorse Two Amendments to State Laws.

Two bills favored by the retail merchants of Georgia were discussed at a meeting of local merchants held in the rooms of the chamber of commerce yesterday afternoon. The meeting was presided over by Colonel Fred J. Paxon.

The first bill would amend the garnishment law by making subject to attachment by garnishment proceedings the wages of day laborers and mechanics when they amounted to more than $1 per day to the extent of 50 per cent of such excess. As the law now stands, the wages of day laborers and mechanics are exempt from garnishment, no matter what the amount of them may be.

In interpreting the law, the courts have undertaken to draw a wide distinction between the man who earns his living chiefly by his hands and the man whose work is principally of a mental character. The merchants claim that this distinction works a hardship on a large class of people, as many so called day laborers earn much larger wages than those whose work the supreme court has considered of a mental nature.

The other bill is of interest to bankers as well as merchants, and has received the indorsement of the Georgia Bankers' association. It would make the drawing of a check by any party without funds in bank to cover the same a misdemeanor, unless the drawer of the check deposit with the drawee sufficient funds to meet it within thirty days.

The purpose of the meeting was not so much to indorse the bills, for they have already received the indorsement of retail merchants generally throughout the state through the action of the state merchants' association, but to devise means to secure their enactment by the general assembly this summer. The Georgia Retail Merchants' association will meet in Atlanta this year July 21 to 23, at which time the legislature will be in session. The plan is to have these bills made a special order of business on July 22, both in the house and senate, so that the merchants who are expected to attend the session of 1,000 strong, may be better able to present to these bodies the reasons for the passage of the measures.

There will be also a meeting of local merchants to consider the same topics next Thursday afternoon.

ABSENCE OF WINBURN POSTPONES MEETING

Closing of Forsyth Underpass to Be Discussed Next Tuesday. Clayton Has Two Plans.

Because of the absence of W. A. Winburn, vice president of the Central of Georgia, the committee appointed by council to go over plans prepared by Captain R. M. Clayton, of the construction department, for closing the Forsyth underpass, postponed its meeting until 3 o'clock Tuesday.

Every member of the citizens' committee, composed of Clark Howell, James R. Gray, Robert F. Maddox and W. F. Winecoff, were present, together with Aldermen Ragsdale and Everett and Councilmen Mason, Kimbrough and Everett.

Captain Clayton submitted a set of plans outlining two schemes for entering the railroad tracks after the underpass is closed. One is through Alabama street around the Central of Georgia property. The other is from Wall street. Mr. Gray suggested that in view of the fact that the Central of Georgia would be called upon to aid in carrying out the project, it would be advisable for the committee to postpone the hearing until such time as he could appear.

The committee appointed Councilman Kimbrough chairman of the committee, and asked him to notify Captain James W. English and Ed. P. Ansley to appear before the committee.

The committee will submit the plans when complete before Governor Brown and the railroad commission, as the recent act of the legislature authorizing the closing of the pass requires that both must approve before the work can be started.

Wisdom Will Speak.

W. M. Wisdom, of New York city, has been engaged to deliver his lecture on "God's Love v. Hell Fire" next Sunday in Cable Concert hall. The usual subject and the reputation of the speaker will no doubt bring a good attendance.

The International Bible Students' association is arranging for this lecture. The lecture is free; no collections of any kind will be taken. All are cordially invited.

Song Service Sunday.

There will be a service of song and praise at the Railroad Young Men's Christian association rooms Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock to which all railroad men and their friends are invited. Several men will make short talks, and the singing will be full of inspiration. A welcome awaits every man.

ATLANTA WILL GAIN BY INSURANCE DEAL

Half-Million Dollars More in Premiums Will Pass Through the Atlanta Banks.

A large deal has just been consummated in the fire insurance world, which, it is claimed, will result in the handling through Atlanta banks of $500,000 a year more of insurance premiums. This is the taking over of the Teutonia Insurance company, of New Orleans, by the Hartford Fire Insurance company. The deal was entered into into last Saturday in New Orleans, but it did not become generally known in local insurance circles until yesterday. It still remains to be ratified by the stockholders of the Teutonia company, but this ratification, it is thought, will be a mere formality.

Chiefly instrumental in negotiating the contract of reinsurance with the directors of the Teutonia company were Eglestos & Prescott, of Atlanta, general agents of the southern department of the Hartford company. W. R. Prescott, of this firm, has lately returned from New Orleans, and he gives confirmation to the report from the Louisiana metropolis that the deal has been made.

Business Comes to Atlanta.

As a result of the absorption of the Teutonia by the Hartford Fire, a large part of the business of the former concern, which has been done in New Orleans, will now come to Atlanta. The Teutonia company had a premium income last year of approximately $900,000. As much the greater portion of its business was in southern territory, it is probable that at least two-thirds of it will now be handled through the Atlanta office of the Hartford Fire Insurance company. This will mean the addition of $500,000 a year to the deposits of Atlanta banks.

The Teutonia company began business June 1, 1871, and was consequently forty-two years old. The statement of the company, made at the close of last year, showed assets amounting to $1,118,840. Its business was distributed through thirty-two states. The company has been a good dividend payer, paying 10 per cent each year since 1895, except in 1906, the year of the San Francisco fire, when no dividends were paid. The United States, state and city bonds owned by the company amounted to $700,000. There were other bonds of a gilt-edged character amounting to $125,000. In addition to this, it had real estate in New Orleans worth $70,000.

Reinsurance Contract.

At the agents of the Teutonia throughout the country have been notified of the deal and requested to cease doing business for that company. The reinsurance contract provides that the Teutonia shall liquidate its affairs and retire from business, and carries with it the good will of that company. The resolution authorizing the reinsurance states that Tteutonia's retirement is due chiefly to severe competition and general and continuous decline in fire insurance rates.

This is the second New Orleans company which has reinsured in the Hartford Fire, the business of the Crescent Insurance company having been taken over some years ago.

Steamer Makes New Record.

James T. Scott, commercial agent of the Clyde line, reports that their new steamer Nacape has made a new record on freight from the east. Freight leaving on the Lenape from New York Tuesday afternoon arrived this morning at 8 o'clock, and was delivered this morning. While it is third morning out of New York, this freight was actually in transit only 2½ days, which makes the time most remarkable and which record, no doubt, will stand for a long time.

All-Day Singing.

An all-day singing will be held Sunday at Stone Mountain by the Sacred Harp Singers, who have extended a general invitation to the public to attend and take part in the exercises. Good singers have promised to come from different parts of the country and a large crowd is expected to attend.

WILL SEEK CLEMENCY FOR OSCAR NEWBERRY

Judge Roan yesterday sentenced Oscar Dewberry, a negro, who was convicted of murdering Horace Dodson, a white boy, on Decatur street last winter, to hang on July 11. Immediately after sentence was pronounced, the negro's attorneys, Calhoun & Connally, announced that they would appeal to the pardon board for clemency, as they claim that there were mitigating circumstances in the case which were not brought out at the first trial.

New Civic Consciousness.

The federation is doing a wonderful work in educating the great mass of its membership to a certain civic consciousness hitherto practically unknown in our sex; that clubs have done and are doing incalculable good in teaching women to work together, and to work disinterestedly; that all this must not be jeopardsed or interfered with by the injection of any issue that would arouse antagonism or altercation.—General Federation Magazine.

To Players' Club Cast.

A beautiful occasion last night was the dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Cooney at the Driving club, their guests, the cast of the Players' club production of "The Importance of Being Earnest," which will be a brilliant event of Tuesday evening at the Atlanta theater. There were inclosed also the new members recently added to the club.

Dinner was served at one large table on the terrace, and elaborate and artistic decorations was in pink. The centerpiece was a massive silver vase of pink roses, and at its base was a plateau of pink sweet peas, clusters of them forming corsage bouquets, which were presented to the ladies after dinner. Appropriate place cards were players' masks, and pretty detail of color was pink.

The evening was a happy holiday from the steady and strenuous work the club cast in putting into the preparation, for that is expected to be one of its greatest successes. A delightful feature was music by Miss Ellen Weeks, of Nashville, Mrs. Cooney's visitor, Mrs. Wm. D. Owens, Mrs. Cooney and other gifted members of the party.

Mrs. Cooney was lovely in white, her gown of chiffon and lrish lace and her hat of lrish lace.

To Kindergarten Class.

Miss Eva Wurm was hostess yesterday at an enjoyable morning party, her guests including the members of her kindergarten class, their mothers and a few other little children.

Speculation is rife as to the identity of this beloved and celebrated character, but beyond the fact that she is one of the most prominent women in Atlanta and one of the most beloved, it is all guess work.

RADCLIFF MUST FACE MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE

Atlanta Man Prostrated by News of Death of Cripple He Ran Down on Macon Street.

Macon, Ga., May 30.—(Special.)—Edward A. Green, the cripple from Monticello, who was run down by W. J. Radcliff, a former Atlanta boy, last Monday when he lost control of his motorcycle died last night at the Macon hospital without regaining consciousness.

Today Radcliff is prostrated in his cell at the Bibb county jail and this morning he told the jailer that if he could he would gladly exchange places with his victim.

Green was a victim of locomotor ataxia and was seated in his wheel-chair when struck by the motorcycle. He was one of the wealthiest citizens of Jasper county and leaves an estate valued at more than $100,000. Besides his wife, he leaves a sister, Mrs. T. J. McCord, of Forsyth, and a sister-in-law, Mrs. J. J. Clay, of Macon.

The body was taken to Monticello this morning and the funeral and interment will be held there.

Radcliff's Suffering.

"God only knows how this affects me!" said young Radcliff this morning when told of Mr. Green's death. "I would rather die myself, and every minute of my life from now on will be haunted with visions of the accident in which I played such an unwilling part.

"My life is wrecked, for I will never be able to forget the unfortunate accident. I know that I am not to blame, and I am confident that the courts will clear me of any intention to harm the poor man, but that will never ease my racked brain. I have thought of it day by day and every hour I grow more remorseful, but God knows I could not help it."

A warrant charging manslaughter has been taken out against Radcliff, and his case will probably be laid before the grand jury which is now in session.

Negro Acquitted of Murder.

Macon, Ga., May 30.—(Special.)—Alto Williams, a negro who runs a grocery store in East Macon, was today found not guilty of the murder of Minnie Redd, a negress, after the jury had been out only ten minutes.

The Redd woman was shot and killed during a scuffle for the possession of a pistol while Williams was taking her home in his delivery wagon. He surrendered to the sheriff shortly afterward and claimed that it was an accident. The state was unable to disprove his story and therefore there was nothing for the jury to do but turn him loose.

Williams is one of the best known negroes in Macon, and the gallery was filled with members of the black race during the progress of the trial.

Frazier Wants Consul's Job.

Macon, Ga., May 30.—(Special.)—Dr. E. P. Frazier, of Macon, is an applicant for the position of vice consul at Vevey, Switzerland, and has returned home from abroad to push his claims for the position.

The Fraziers have been in Europe for about a year, and anticipate residing there for a few years longer, during which time Dr. Frazier is making a study of farming conditions. He and Mrs. Frazier expect to make their home Switzerland and have picked out Vevey as the most desirable spot.

Macon people are signing petitions, asking Secretary Bryan to give Dr. Frazier the appointment he desires, and as he is the only applicant, it is believed he will have little difficulty in landing the place.

Dr. Frazier will join Mrs. Frazier in London about July 1.

Macon's May Festival.

Macon, Ga., May 30.—(Special.)—Thousands of Macon people gathered at Tatnall Square playground this afternoon to watch the children in the first annual May festival, given under the auspices of the Macon Playground association, of which Professor E. G. Kingsbury is the director.

The exercises began at 3:30 o'clock, and it was after 6 before they were finally completed, the grand finale being a May pole drill by 100 pretty little girls.

One of the most interesting features of the festival was the presentation of a large American flag to the Playground association by Miss Loulee Callaway, on behalf of the Children of the American Revolution, the speech of acceptance being made by Professor C. H. Bence, superintendent of Bibb county schools. This was followed by a flag raising and salute by the school children.

One hundred little girls participated in a doll carriage parade, while 1,000 of the older boys and girls took part in a Calisthenic drill. Twenty girls from Alexander school No. 2 gave a demonstration of the Irish Lilt; twenty from the south side playground dancing the Highland Scottische, while twenty of the high school girls went through the Hebbard steps.

Athletic events were held for both boys and girls, and suitable banners and prizes were awarded to the winners.

Music for the drills was furnished by Kaler's band.

Nisbet school was awarded the banner for winning the greatest number of points, with Alexander, No. 2, finishing second.

In the May pole drill twenty girls from Alexander No. 2 school won the prize. The girls were under the leadership of Miss Jessie Rau.

The doll carriage parade was the big feature of the afternoon, there being fifty-three beautifully decorated doll carriages in line. The judges pronounced that of little 3-year-old Roberta Howard, daughter of J. R. Howard, 710 College street, to be the prettiest. Second honor went to little Annie Knowles, while Dorothy Calliff won the third prize.

RELATIVE OF SEPTEMBER MORN FOUND IN STREET

Chicago, May 30.—When Walter Jasper, a South Chicago saloonkeeper, went out to take a look at his garden in the rear of his place of business at 8468 Exchange avenue, he was considerably surprised to find an entire outfit of summer clothing where he had expected to find beans and radishes growing.

On a pole he had placed to carry his climbing beans he found a pair of new trousers with suspenders attached. On another pole he found a coat and vest to match the trousers, and on a bed reserved for onions he discovered underwear and a shirt and collar. Nearby was a new pair of shoes and half hose of cerise and green.

This was too much of a mystery for Jasper to solve unaided, so he telephoned for the aid of the South Chicago police. A squad of police in the patrol wagon responded and when nearing Jasper's place discovered the probable owner of the clothing.

"This September Morn' herself," said one. ("September Morn" is a painting of a nude girl which was recently published from a Chicago art gallery by court edict.)

"Go on wid yez," retorted an Irish patrolman, possessing better eyesight, "'tis her brother."

Not even a smile adorned the person of the man discovered by the police. He was unable to tell his name, and was taken to the police station surrounded by a blanket. He is thought to be demented and will be examined.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., May 30.—When Anna Babisky, aged 7 months, fell into a tub of scalding water, her father, George Babisky, seized the infant and ran one mile to a doctor's office. As he raced along the street, his wife followed at his heels crying loudly.

Babisky passed the offices of several doctors, but he seemed to have his mind set on only one physician and by the time he reached the doctor he was looking for, the child was almost dead.

ASKED WILSON TO DRAW CURRENCY REFORM BILL

President, However, Will Turn Task of Condensing Three Present Bills Over to McAdoo.

Washington, May 29.—Democratic leaders in congress, interested in currency reform, have invited President Wilson to frame a bill from the three drafts presented by Senator Owen and Representative Glass, heads of the two congressional committees on banking and currency, and Secretary McAdoo. The president let it be known that while he considered the request a generous one, he did not feel competent to write a detailed measure, and would turn over the task of condensing the three bills to Secretary McAdoo, indicating first his approval of different sections in each. The president said that those three measures were the only ones before him at present, and that the present object of the currency conferences were to reach a common agreement on a measure to be launched in congress in a short time. There it will be subjected, the president hopes, to the freest criticism by all parties, so a non-partisan measure may be passed.

The central ideas of the three bills, the president said, were the same. He gave no information as to their contents, but it is known that the measures would provide for a system of regional reserve banks from ten to fifteen in number. These institutions would be co-ordinate in their powers, and besides receiving a portion of the reserves of banks in their districts, would serve as banks of discount for their members.

No attempt, it is said, will be made to establish a national rate of discount. All three bills have proposals for redistribution of the country's reserve, each being aimed to prevent concentration.

Functions of the regional reserve banks, as outlined, are not the same in the different bills, but there is a common idea of establishing a supervising national board, consisting of cabinet members and prominent bankers and other business men.

With respect to elasticity of the currency there has been no definite agreement as to detail. Two of the measures are said to propose that the regional reserve banks be given the power of note issue, to be backed up by gold reserve and high class commercial paper, but the third is said to be in favor of a government issue of notes.

No Need Being Old or Wrinkled Before 75

Lillian Russell says any woman who has wrinkles before she's 75 is herself responsible for them. Sunshine and fresh air she considers more valuable as complexion preservers than nostrums and cosmetics.

The chief objection to cosmetics is that at best they only temporarily cover up defects. There are certain true aids to Nature, which may be applied with directly opposite effect. Ordinary mercolized wax, for instance, actually removes a bad or oldish complexion, by gradually, almost imperceptibly, peeling off the wornout scarf skin. Just one ounce, procurable at any drug store, will soon unveil an entirely new and natural complexion, with an exquisite girlish color. Of course, cutaneous blemishes like pimples, freckles, fine lines, moth patches, liver spots, disappear with the discarded skin.

To prevent or remove wrinkles, a face bath which also produces natural results, is made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel. This is immediately effective and gives no untoward after-effect.

VETERANS SEE AVIATOR CROSS LOOKOUT MOUNT.

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 30.—One of the features of the closing day of the confederate reunion was the flight over Lookout mountain by Johnny Green in his Curtiss biplane, the first successful flight over the mountain ever made.

Several other aviators have attempted the feat but failed on account of treacherous wind currents encountered. Green rose to a height of 8,000 feet, 700 feet above any of his previous records. He was in the air 4 minutes. He encountered in the flight over the mountain and Moccasin Bend valley a wind of 20 miles velocity.

TALLULAH REHEARING IS SET FOR JUNE 28

Work on Power Plant Goes Forward With Fresh Impetus as a Result of Verdict.

By J. Watson LeCraw.

Tallulah Falls, Ga., May 30.—(Special.)—Renewed vigor has been put into the power plant construction work as a result of the verdict rendered yesterday at Clayton, Ga., in favor of the Georgia Railway and Power company in the hearing of the Tallulah Falls land suit. The suspense that has in a way hung over the work while the suit was pending has now been removed.

Judge J. B. Jones, of Gainesville, who presided over the session of the superior court of Rabun county at the Tallulah Falls hearing in Clayton, announced today that the attorneys for the state would be heard before him in Gainesville on June 28. Upon denial of a new trial by Judge Jones the question will then pass to the supreme court of Georgia for final decision. No apprehension is felt now, however, and the entire construction work will be pushed forward just as rapidly as possible.

Begin Operation by August.

C. O. Lenz, of New York, chief engineer of the Georgia Railway and Power company, who designed the entire plan of the Tallulah plant before a stroke of work was done, has been here for the past few days inspecting the progress of the work.

"The tunnel will be entirely finished within the next few weeks, and the power house will be completed some time in August," said Mr. Lenz today.

"The dam, which stands complete already, will be closed as soon as the power house is ready to receive the water, and at least one unit, creating 17,000 horsepower of electricity, will be set in operation at once. The entire five units, aggregating 85,000 horsepower, will be utilized as soon thereafter as the demand requires."

There are about 500 men in the various departments of work at Tallulah now including quite a number of the engineers, and with the time here for the arrival of summer visitors, the gayeties of the summer resort, Tallulah, are beginning to open. Hotel owners are preparing for the biggest crowd this summer in the history of Tallulah Falls.

MRS. LONGSTREET ON TALLULAH FALLS CASE

In reference to the Tallulah Falls land suit, Mrs. Helen D. Longstreet, president of the conservation association, has wired The Constitution the following statement:

"Washington, D. C., May 30, 1913.

"Representing the people of Georgia by authority vested in me jointly by the Georgia legislature, the resolution directing suit to recover the state's property at Tallulah Falls, and by the Tallulah Falls Conservation and Parking association, I desire to make a statement concerning the dummy lawsuit which the Georgia Railway and Power company succeeded in having called up at Clayton this week.

"I have not been advised of the verdict, but along with every other well-posted person, I know what the Hotel verdict would be. I went to Clayton last February, when the water power trust was endeavoring to get the special term trial, and protested against it with all the power at my command. I told the water power crowd on that occasion that this suit would avail them nothing. I made the same announcement to them on May 26th.

"Every lawyer employed by me to represent the state was instructed to withdraw from the suit. If they did not do so they acted without authority.

"I desire to say that every intention of the legislative resolution providing for this suit was violated in letter and in spirit.

"With full knowledge of the meaning of English; with full knowledge of the price I may be called upon to pay; with full knowledge of the tortuous years through which the struggle may drag, I say to the Georgia Railway and Power company that its struggle to rescue Tallulah Falls is just beginning. It will never end until the water power trust vacates Georgia's property on the hills of Rabun, or the grave closes over me.

"HELEN D. LONGSTREET.

"President Tallulah Falls Conservation and Parking Association."

COLUMBUS CLERK AND HIS EMPLOYER BOTH INDICTED

Columbus, Ga., May 30.—(Special.)—A sensation was created today when the Muscogee grand jury indicted H. H. Mooty, former bookkeeper for the Bee Hive, on a charge of larceny after trust, and also indicted Leo Loewenhers, his employer, on the charge of perjury.

Loewenhers gave bond in the sum of $1,000. The perjury charge is said to grow out of his testimony before the grand jury in regard to Mooty's alleged shortage. Loewenhers said that the irregularities in his bookkeeper's accounts had been adjusted satisfactorily to himself. He offered to retain Mooty and to increase his salary, it is said.

Mooty is now a resident of Atlanta. The warrant has not yet been served on him.

BIG LAND SUIT WON BY G. S. & F. RAILROAD

Valdosta, Ga., May 30.—(Special.)—In Lowndes superior court today Judge Thomas directed a verdict in favor of the Georgia Southern and Florida railroad in the suit brought by heirs of W. W. Lawson to recover certain lands at Hahira, Ga. The lands in question were given to the railroad by Lawson for its use when the road was built twenty-four years ago.

With the growth of town, lands have greatly enhanced in value. During the last two years a warehouse, a gin nery and the town's electric light plant have been erected on the lands, which are in the heart of the town.

The plaintiffs claimed that the lands were given the railroad for terminal purposes, depots and switches, while the road claimed that it was given to help its business there, and could be used as the road saw fit. It claimed that the industries located on the land were feeders for the road, and that it was carrying out the contract with the donor in allowing the industries to be built.

Fewer cases have been fought harder in the court or more points of law involved.

WAYCROSS MEETING VOTES AGAINST CHANGE

Waycross, Ga., May 30.—(Special.)—At a largely attended mass meeting today citizens voted against making any changes in the present law governing the board of county commissioners.

James Cowart, president of the Farmers' union, urged the approval of an amendment that would give the majority of the board to the county despite the fact that the Waycross district pays over two-thirds of the taxes and has over two-thirds of the county's population. The position taken by Mr. Cowart, was declared unfair by Mayor J. Reed, former Alderman Dunn and others. W. E. Sirmans, who has engaged in a warm newspaper controversy with Cowart, was elected chairman of the meeting.

RESULT OF TENNESSEE'S LEGISLATIVE MUDDLE

Nashville, Tenn., May 30.—Chancellor John Allison today denied the injunction sought by the fusionists to prevent recognition of new members of the state election board on the allegation that the house of representatives was without a quorum when the election law was recently amended, increasing the board and that both houses were without quorum when the joint convention elected them. The chancellor held the election law amendment valid. He held that the house journal was the only witness which the courts could consult relative to actions of the house. The decision was heard by a packed court room. An appeal will be taken.

TWO LADIES INJURED IN TIFTON RUNAWAY

Tifton, Ga., May 30.—(Special.)—Mrs. O. C. Griner, while driving with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Bruce Griner, of Rebecca, and the latter's two children this afternoon about 6 o'clock, was thrown from the buggy and severely injured. The horse was frightened and turned the buggy over, throwing both ladies and the children out.

Mrs. Bruce Griner was bruised and scratched, but sustained no serious injuries. Mrs. O. C. Griner was severely hurt about the right hip and side, but it is thought her injuries will not prove fatal. She is the wife of Colonel O. C. Griner, a prominent attorney.

CHOSE DEATH TO TRIAL ON CHARGE OF TREASON

Vienna, May 30.—Disclosure of the fact that Colonel Albert Redl, of the general staff of the Eighth Army corps, committed suicide last Monday rather than face trial on a charge of high treason, is made in The Military Gazette. He was accused of selling to Russia important military secrets.

It is the custom in the Austrian army to give officers, who are accused of a disgraceful crime the opportunity of taking their own lives. In accordance with this four officers went to his home and discussed his case, leaving behind on his table a loaded revolver. They waited outside and a few minutes later heard that the disgraced colonel had used the weapon, as they intended.

Children Throng Snap Bean Farm For Annual May Day Festival

The spirit of "Uncle Remus" seemed to hover in tender mood over the May pole festival yesterday afternoon at Snap Bean farm and scores of little children who love to read his books carried something of his little boy and girl characters into their fun.

From the time that the first sound of the music announced the coming of Frances Stokes, queen of the May last year, who crowned Kathrine Vickers as this year's queen, until the last May pole dance had ended with the ribands twined around the poles and the hundreds of little tots were ready to go home, there was not a dull moment.

Scores and scores of children attended the festival given under the auspices of the Uncle Remus Memorial association. There were with them fathers and mothers and other relatives; in fact, the grown-ups seemed to enjoy the fun as much as any of the little folk.

The crowning of the queen and the march of her attendants to the throne placed on a raised platform in the midst of the house made one of the prettiest childrens pageants seen in Atlanta. Dainty dresses and dainty flowers adorned children whose beauty and attraction seemed to blend with the May flowers they carried.

The crowning over, "Queen Kathrine" commanded that the May pole dance begin. There were three separate poles, and around these the smaller girls danced, darting in and out between each other until their ribbons were wound close to the bottom of the pole, which became a spire of variegated color, topped by a beautiful cluster of flowers.

The tots who attended to watch the festival seemed to be as busy as those who were part of the festival. Ice cream cones and salted peanuts abounded on the lawn, and in addition to these delights of childish hearts there was much for the thirsty ones and plenty of candy for the little miss or lad with a sweet tooth.

In the long line of children watching the pageant if there was one without a bag of goodies of some kind, he was not seen, and it is probable that he had let his older brother or sister carry the goodies where he could reach for them conveniently.

The festival of music was raised for the memorial association from both the small admission charged and for the various things that were sold by the ladies present.

HIGH DUTY ON DIAMONDS WILL CAUSE SMUGGLING

With This Argument Importers Secure Reduction on Proposed Rates from Senate Committee.

Washington, May 30.—Diamond importers have scored a victory before the senate finance sub-committee in charge of the sundries schedule of the tariff bill, the committee having decided upon a reduction in the proposed Underwood rate of 20 per cent ad valorem on cut diamonds. The present 10 per cent rate may be restored, but it seems more probable that a 15 per cent eventually will be determined upon.

When importer after importer appeared before the committee and declared that any rate over 10 per cent on cut diamonds would increase and greatly encourage smuggling, members of the committee began to investigate their statements. Finally, when large importers insisted that a high rate on cut diamonds, assessed with a view of obtaining revenue on a luxury, would force some importers to ally themselves with the smugglers, the committee took the matter up with customs officials.

Members of the Diamond Trade Tariff league, of New York, had declared that a 20 per cent duty would force dealers to buy diamonds from smugglers despite their willingness to do so and in many cases they would buy smuggled goods unknowingly.

Customs officials were inclined to verify this view, and informed members of the committee that they would be opposed to such a high rate. Upon this information the sub-committee, composed of Senators Johnson, Pittman, Smith and Hughes, decided to change the rate in their report to the full committee, which will be made next week.

The outlook now is that the democratic caucus on the tariff will be reported to the senate about June 16. Democratic leaders predict that the opposition will tire of debating the measure by July 15. Some republican leaders probably would not object to closing debate then unless it should develop that the democratic majority in favor of the administration measure can be broken. Should the rank and file show signs of weakening on wool or sugar, the republicans would continue to fight.

The present program of the republicans for debating the bill would consume nearly a month's time, allowing for the interesting discussion by the democrats. The most optimistic sentiment at present is that the new tariff cannot become law before the middle of August, whatever happens.

MEMPHIS COTTON MAN IS UNDER INDICTMENT

Memphis, Tenn., May 30.—Leo Lesser, former president of the Lesser-Eiz Cotton company here, and president of the Bank of Tunica, Tunica, Miss., both of which failed, was indicted in six counts by the Shelby county grand jury today. The principal charges against Lesser are embezzlement, forgery and obtaining money by false pretenses. Lesser disappeared at the time of the failure of the two concerns about six weeks ago, and his whereabouts are unknown.

$1,178,000 INSURANCE CARRIED BY PAINTER

Death of Florida Man Who Fell Off Ferry Boat Is Being Investigated.

Jacksonville, Fla., May 30.—The late E. O. Painter, fertilizer manufacturer, who fell off a ferryboat during a violent coursing spell and was drowned in the St. John's river a week ago Thursday, held life insurance policies totaling $1,178,000, according to a printed list presented here today at a meeting of life insurance agents.

About half the insurance was made payable to Painter's family and the other half to his firm. Most of the insurance was taken out during April this year, and almost all was written within two years.

An investigation of the manner of Painter's death is being made.

Congress Adjourned.

Washington, May 30.—Both houses of congress were in adjournment today, but it is no holiday for the members of the senate finance subcommittees, buried in tariff testimony and briefs, endeavoring to revise the Underwood schedules for the consideration of the entire committee next week.

THE SUMMER TERM BRINGING MANY NEW STUDENTS TO THE SOUTHERN BUSINESS COLLEGE

Enroll Now Before the Rush Occasioned by the Closing of the City Schools Begins. Several Students Secured Positions This Week.

Have you secured a seat for your summer business course at the Southern Shorthand and Business University yet?

If not, you had better do so just as early as possible, because the indications point to the largest summer term enrollment in the history of this long established business school.

Miss Eunice Burkett has just arrived from Sumter, South Carolina, and enrolled at The Southern.

Miss Belle Jones entered this week from Chattsworth, Ga.

Mr. W. N. Growden came in yesterday from Tullahoma, Tennessee, and entered for the combined bookkeeping and shorthand course.

Mr. J. B. Hollis, of Shawmut, Alabama, is among the new arrivals.

Mrs. Emma Richards, of Marietta; Mr. Alvin Hall, of Empire; Miss Beulah Garner, of LaGrange; Mr. A. H. Edwards, of Claxton, are also among those who have just entered the Southern.

Among those who have enrolled this week living in the city are Mr. Harry Grant, Miss Leila Melvin, Mr. Louis Kay, Mrs. Kate Chambers, Miss Gladys Cox.

Several Secure Positions.

Among the several students who have accepted positions during the past few days, Mr. W. A. Ware writes back to the Southern from Lakeland, Florida, as follows:

"As you are aware, I am with the J. Nesbit Haslehurst Engineering Company.

"I consider nothing more important for a young person than to have a knowledge of Commercial Law and Accounts.

"I have attended the Southern Shorthand and Business University, and can say with pleasure and sincerity that the training given in this college is the equal of any commercial school, to the best of my knowledge, in the South."

Mr. Ware belongs to that class of young people who are going to take their place as "leaders" in the business world.

Good character and ambition, coupled with the Southern's practical business training, will bring success more quickly than anything else.

Mr. J. C. Meredith, who came from Jackson, has just finished the Bookkeeping and Shorthand course in the Southern, and yesterday the managers of the school sent him to a firm at Ball Ground.

Mr. R. L. Martin, of Biscoe, N. C., completed the combined course at the Southern this week, and at once accepted a steno-bookkeeper's position with the Seaboard Air Line Railway, Jacksonville, Florida.

Miss Allison, Mr. Starr, Mr. Gantt, are others who have just secured positions.

Be popular with the business men—they are always seeking the Southern's graduates.

Enter now; don't delay; fall in with the crowd, then you'll be sure of a position.

The final games of the Montgomery series will be played this afternoon when the Crackers and the Bilis tie up in a double bill. The first game will start promptly at 2:15 o'clock.

WHIFFS

King's Detail.

CALLER KING will detail the three Nashville games at his Viaduct baseball parlor. These games will be detailed, no matter what day they are scheduled for.

Two Good Bouts.

LEACH CROSS meets Bud Anderson at Los Angeles on July 4, and Willie Ritchie meets Joe Rivers on the same date. The two winners will be matched for a future bout. The result of these three bouts should settle the lightweight championship easily.

Deserves Credit.

SCHMIDT, the young American golfer who gave Champion Hilton such a tremendous battle Thursday, is deserving of the highest commendation for his plucky battle. His play was the feature of the tournament, and English experts say that with a little more experience the lad will take his place in the front ranks of the golfers of the world.

Congratulations.

MRS. BOB JONES, of Atlanta, saved the local delegation of women golfers from being swamped. Mrs. Jones captured the third flight at Memphis, winning easily from Mrs. Mewborn, of Memphis, seven up and six to play.

How Shout It?

HAROLD HILTON, the great British golf player, has won the British open amateur golf championship for the fourth time, being finished in only one match, the one with Heinrich Schmidt, the young American, who made him go nineteen holes to get the verdict.

What About It?

THE ATHLETICS must be feared by all comers. If they can lead the American league with J. Franklin Baker, the Texas home-run maker hitting only at a .248 clip, what will they do when this lad gets in his real stride?

Will Score Country.

BILLY SMITH is going to score the country with a one-tooth comb to get pitchers that can twirl dependable baseball. He realizes that his best chance to cop his third pennant is this season. He has considerable back club outside of his twirlers, and no one knows it better than Bill. Rest assured that he is going to get said hurlers, if money can buy them.

A Great Course.

WHEN the Brookhaven golf course was enlarged to eighteen holes and the members of the club, which will be then known as the Capital City Country club, begin playing over it, Atlanta will boast of two courses that stand on a par with any two courses in the country.

PERRYMAN GIVEN HIS REINSTATEMENT

Cincinnati, May 30.—The National Baseball commission today declared Player E. K. Perryman, of the New York National league club, to be in good standing. The player stated that he did not report to his club this spring owing to his desire to complete his college course and therefore no penalty was inflicted.

EMPIRE STATE LEAGUE

Cordele 9, Thomasville 2.

Cordele, Ga., May 30.—(Special.)—Cordele took the second of the series from Thomasville at Cordele this afternoon by a score of 9 to 2. "Baby" Wilder showed in his usual good form, getting ten strikeouts to his credit. Myers opened the game for Thomasville, but was batted out of the box in the first inning and was supplanted by Elliott, who found the Cordele batters at their best. Wasden got a home run in the second inning, putting the ball over left fence.

Thomasville	000 001 100—2 8 4
Cordele.	511 020 00x—9 12 6

Batteries: Meyers, Elliott and Dudley; Wilder and Eubanks. Time, 2 hours. Umpire, McLaughlin.

Americus 4, Brunswick 3.

Americus, Ga., May 30.—(Special.)—The Americus contingent won the game with Brunswick this afternoon, to the surprise and gratification of local fans, by the score of 4 to 3. Both teams played good ball, the features being the pitching of Werner, who permitted only three hits, and the home run knocked by Burns, a recent acquisition from Macon, who brought in Riley ahead of him. Americus scored all runs in the sixth inning, the fireworks starting with Burns' home run. Today's victory, the first in some time, revived the spirits of local fans considerably.

Score by innings:	R. H. E.
Americus	000 004 0—4 10 3
Brunswick	200 000 1—3 3 3

Valdosta 12, Waycross 2.

Valdosta, Ga., May 30.—(Special.)—Valdosta swamped Waycross in the second game of the series, 12 to 2. It was a beautiful game up to the seventh, when the Waycross' infield, especially Pitcher Stiles, exploded. Before the pyrotechnics stopped Valdosta had two-sackers. If there was a feature ten and gave up five hits. Valdosta hit safely eleven times, four of them two-sackers. If there was a feature in the game, it was the fielding of Fenton and Anderson, for Waycross.

Minneapolis, May 30.—Mrs. Jennie Golden, who when 18 years old was married to her half nephew, then 20 years old has filed suit to have the marriage annulled, so the relationship of their four-year-old daughter, Margaret, may be straightened out and the girl not be compelled to go through life as second cousin to herself.

Christian Golden the husband, wants the marriage annulled, too.

Crackers Have Field Day; Curley Brown Is Hammered To All Corners of the Lot

By DICK JEMISON.

Billy Smith's Crackers had a field day Friday afternoon. They hammered the curves of Southpaw Curley Brown to all corners of Ponce de Leon park, winning 13 to 2.

Brown was touched up for fourteen clingles, for a total of twenty-two bases, ten singles, a double, two triples and a home run clout being their collection of safe wallops.

Harry Chapman was the only Cracker who failed to get a hit, but Cotton Knaupp robbed him of one by a beautiful jumping catch of his line drive in the fourth inning. All the others got one or more wallops. Every local counted one or more runs.

Dent in Form.

Elliott Dent, the Cracker big right-hander, was "right." He looked great Friday afternoon. His curve broke sharply, his drop was working nicely, and he mixed them on the batters in approved fashion.

At the start he appeared to be a trifle nervous, but he settled down after their third inning, and when the Crackers got the lead for him in the fourth, he was practically unhittable.

Dent requires a lot of work, and, should regularly be allowed one out of the winning pitchers of the league. And he should not go back, either, but improve every time out. Lack of work has been his main trouble.

Alpermann, Bisland and Smith had great days in the field. These three trapped hard-hit balls in approved style, making remarkably quick pick-ups and then perfect throws to first. Every chance that Bisland handled was a hard one. Chapman threw to the bases like a rifle shot.

Whitey Is Back.

Cap Whitey has broken his slump. The local field leader has been in the throes of a batting slump for the past week. Twenty-seven times in seven games he stepped up to the plate without being able to get a hit.

Yesterday he got a double and a home run, and they both came in the big Cracker inning. When he pulled up at second on his two-bagger, he doffed his cap to the bench in acknowledgement of its teammates' approval, which was as much for Whitey as any one else. The Crackers' timeliest hitter, Whitey's slump was the occasion of much worry. Now that he is back, he will probably hit the cover off the ball.

Tommy Long and Wallop Smith, with three bingles each in five trips to the plate, led the locals' attack, with Welchonce and Alpermann close behind.

Bailey's beautiful throw to the plate in the second inning, aided by Chapman's perfect blocking, completed a double play in the second inning that was a peach.

How They Scored.

The Crackers were the first to count. Long greeted Brown with a triple to center field. Waikers fast fielding only kept it from being a homer. But welchonce drove him home with a clean wallop to left.

The Billies grabbed the lead in their half of the third. Brown opened the inning with a triple to right and when Smith let the relay get by he came on to the plate. Walker got a scratch rap, was sacrificed to second by Ware and counted on Manning's blow to center for a bag.

The Crackers grabbed the lead in the fourth. With two salted away, Smith punched one to center. Bisland hit to Brown, and when he tried to make a one-handed stop of Manning's he let the ball get away, both hands being safe. Agler punched a clean single to left, and when Jantzen let it get away, both Smith and Bisland counted.

Nine in One Round.

The Crackers hung up nine tallies in the sixth session, four players scoring up to the plate twice before the side was retired. Except for the fact that they were tired out, the locals might be scoring yet.

Whitey opened the session with a two-ply smash to the Bill. Bailey got a free ticket. Smith beat out a bunt, and when Manning threw badly to first, Whitey scored. Bailey, racing to third, Bisland counted Bailey with a safe rap to center. Smith going to third. Rivey took second on the throw to third. Agler got a base on balls. Chapman hit to second. Wares fumbled, Smith and Bisland scoring.

Wares threw to the plate, and when Agler tried to go to third he was out. Dent singled to right. Chapman went to third. Dent took second on the throw to the plate, and when Manning threw wild to second Chapman counted and Dent went to third.

Long scored Dent with a clout to left and stole second. Then Welchonce got one of the flukiest three-bagers ever seen here. He smashed a hard one over Brown's head. Knaupp raced for it with one hand; deflected it, and Walker, who was racing in, could not stop in time to make the play. Curse, the ball going by him. Whitey's second time in the inning, poled one over Jantzen's head for the circuit scoring Welchonce ahead of him. Bailey got hit, but two force-outs finally retired the side.

A base on balls to Agler, Knaupp's error of Dent's bounder, Alder's steal of third and Long's single scored one more in the seventh.

Two Games Today.

Elmer Brown and Donahue, for the Billikens, and Chappelle and Dunn, for the Crackers, will be the probable batteries in the first game of the double-header today, which starts at 2:15 o'clock.

Bagby and Gribbens, for the Billies, and Musser and Chapman, for the Crackers, will be the probable batteries in the final seance.

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 30.—Memphis and Chattanooga broke even in a double-header today, Memphis winning the first game, 5 to 4, and Chattanooga the second, 4 to 0. Better support for Memphis' pitchers enabled them to win the first game, a hard hitting battle, in which Abstein made two home runs and a double, and Street and Ward hit home runs. Coveleskie held Memphis to one hit and fanned eight men in the second game, while Street and Kroh's bases on balls helped score the home team's four runs.

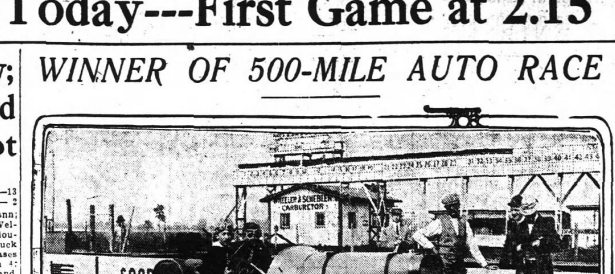
WINNER OF 500-MILE AUTO RACE



JULES GOUX,

The famous Frenchman, who holds the title of speed king of the world by reason of his wonderful speed at Brooklands, a few weeks ago, added new laurels to his list by winning the 500-mile international sweepstakes at Indianapolis yesterday. He is shown here in the car with which he won the race.

Jules Goux Driving Pengeot Wins 500-Mile Auto Race; Wishart in Second Place

Indianapolis, Ind., May 30.—The United States fell before France here today when Jules Goux, a Frenchman, driving a French car, the Peugeot, won the third annual 500-mile automobile race in 6:31:33.46 at an average speed of 78.59 miles an hour.

No fatal accidents marred the running of the race, although two were seriously injured when the Mason, driven by Jack Tower, upset on the back turn, due to tire blowout. Tower's right leg was broken, and Lee Duncan, his mechanician, was hurt internally and three ribs were broken. Physicians were not sure as to the extent of Dunning's injuries tonight.

Charles Merz, who finished third in a Stutz, brought the biggest thrill to the crowd, estimated at 100,000, when he drove the last lap of the race with his car on fire. The flames broke out at the upper stretch turn, and Merz refused to stop at the pits until he had circled the track another time and finished the race.

Coming down the home stretch at the finish, Harry Martin, Merz's mechanician, climbed out on the hood of the car and unbuckled the straps so the pitmen could extinguish the flames quickly.

Four of the eight foreign cars entered won prizes, the other four being forced out by broken parts.

An American car, a Mercer, driven by Spencer Wishart, finished second, seven laps behind the winner. The Sunbeam, an English car, driven by a Frenchman, Albert Guyet, came fourth. The other foreign cars in the money were: Pilette's Mercedes-Knight (German, which was third, and Mulford's Mercedes (German), seventh. Three Italian cars were forced out of the contest.

The race was a little more than ten minutes slower than last year's contest, which was run in 6:21:06. This was due to the fact that the speedway surface, due, it was thought, in large measure to the intense heat, which necessitated many changes of tires.

Another thing which caused a slower time was the fact that this year the piston displacement was limited to 450 cubic inches, while last year the race was a free-for-all. All the speedway records for the class of cars were broken up to 250 miles, when the many stops at the pit began to cut down the average. Goux, the winner, complained at every stop at the pits because his manager refused to let him put his car to its highest speed. He claimed that he could have made much better time, but his manager contended that as he was in the lead from the one hundred and fortieth mile there was no use to let the Peugeot out. Goux, after taking the lead from Burman, when he stopped for oil and gasoline, was never headed, and finished far in the lead of his nearest competitor. Anderson's Stutz pushed the leader in the 402-mile race broke all European records for the distance, while his performance at Brooklands track broke all world's records.

Burman, who was the favorite in the betting, ran a hard luck race. In thirty-fifth lap his car caught fire in the back stretch. He put out the blaze and ran to the pits, where he had to change carburetors. He had to make several other stops, and was relieved at the wheel by Hughie Hughes, who still was on the track, about twenty laps behind, when the tenth car finished.

Early in the race Evans' Mason turned completely around on the lower turn, but the car stayed right side up and Evans continued until near the end of the contest.

Besides the prizes and trophies offered by accessory concerns, the following prizes were given by the speedway management to the winners, which, with their time, follow in order:

Peugeot—Goux; 6:31:33.46; $20,000.

Mercer—Wishart; 6:45:06; $10,000.

Stutz—Merz; 6:50:28.78; $5,000.

Sunbeam—Guyot; 7:05:08.10; $3,500.

Mercedes—Knight—Pilette; 7:19:25.55; $3,000.

Grayfox—Wilcox; 7:28:38.90; $2,200.

Mercedes—Mulford; 7:37:17.85; $1,800.

Case—Disbrow; 7:30:50.95; $1,600.

Tulsa—Clark; 7:49:21; $1,500.

Mason—Haupt; 7:56:31; $1,400.

Meredith Wins.

New York, May 30.—Although track condition and strong wind bothered the athletes a Celtic Park today, there were two notable performances by runners, J. E. Meredith, of the University of Pennsylvania, the world's one-half mile amateur champion, went out of his distance, and defeated Abel Kiviat, of the Irish-American Athletic club, by inches in a special three-quarter mile run in 3:08.

WHISK BROOM AN EASY WINNER

Belmont Park, May 30.—Harry P. Whitney's Whisk Broom II flashed under the wire a winner in the Metropolitan handicap at the Belmont Park race track today in the presence of a throng of more than 25,000 persons who had gathered to witness the running of the notable turf event, marking the revival of racing in New York state.

The Whitney horse, ridden by Jockey Joe Notter, had practically been left at the post, but won well in hand in 1:39. It was the first appearance of the son of Broomstick and Audience, a purely bred horse, on an American track. The horse was brought here this year from England, where he had acquitted himself creditably and was trained for today's event by the veteran James Rowe. Richard F. Carman, who owns and trains G. M. Miller and Meridian, winner of the Kentucky derby two years ago, took the remainder of the prize money, as the pair finished second and third.

The crowd which filled the vast stands and inclosures gave an enthusiastic greeting to the bugler when he sounded "Boots and Saddles," and the Cheering was renewed again and again when eleven jockeys piloted as many mounts in parade past the club house and stands to the post for the first of the six races on the card. The band played "Auld Lang Syne," and the crowd, catching the spirit of the occasion, chimed in with the words of the song.

There was no attempt at open betting before or during the races. Many "coal" wagers were made, but in such a manner that the legal authorities were not called upon to interfere. Those who are most interested in the maintenance of the sport in this state, including members of the Jockey club and representatives of the allied interests of the New York and Saratoga tracks, had given assurance to the Nassau county officials of their assistance in seeing that the law prohibiting bookmaking or other gambling would be strictly enforced.

District Attorney Hoyt and Sheriff Demott, of Nassau county, with special officers, were on hand to see that there was no infringement of the law. No arrests were reported.

HARVARD LEADER IN QUALIFYING

Semi-Finals and Finals Will Be Run in Big Meet at Cambridge Today.

Cambridge, Mass., May 30.—Out of the preliminary stage of the annual intercollegiate track and field championships which were begun in the Harvard stadium today, there emerged four-score of student athletes qualified to participate in the semi-final and final events of tomorrow.

Although the competition during the afternoon was keen, it was not productive of any record performances. A fluky wind was the cause generally assigned. In the fight for qualification, Harvard was unexpectedly the leader, with twelve men.

Cornell, which with Pennsylvania had been thought the principal contender for the championship, placed ten athletes, while Pennsylvania will carry only eight men in tomorrow's events. Michigan, Yale and Dartmouth qualified nineli men each.

The number qualified by other colleges was: California 5, Syracuse 4, Columbia 3, Johns Hopkins 3, Princeton 3, Wesleyan 2, Brown, Franklin and Marshall, Penn tSate, 1 each.

Pennsylvania's chances of success were not considered less favored by their failure to qualify more men today. The Red and Blue athletes had come to Cambridge spurred by the words of their veteran coach, Mike Murphy, "It will kill me if you don't win, boys," and they were confident tonight of victory.

Cornell followers expressed the belief that the trophy would go to Ithaca, while Harvard made no claims, most of the Crimson qualifiers being regarded as having little prospect of prominent places in the finals. Trial heats were held today in all events except the mile and two-mile runs. There were no reversals of form worthy of note.

Jockey York Hurt.

Belmont Park, L. I., May 30.—Rothwell York, a jockey, was fatally injured while exercising a horse on the track here today. Falling from the saddle, his foot caught in the stirrup and he was dragged 40 yards.

AMBASSADOR W. H. PAGE RECEIVED AT ST. JAMES

America's New Diplomat Presented to King George by Sir Edward Grey.

London, May 30.—Walter Hines Page, United States ambassador to the Court of St. James, was received today by King George, to whom he presented his letters of credence.

Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, presented the new ambassador. Then Mr. Page went through the formality of presenting to the king and queen the members of the embassy staff, most of whom had attended many courts and levees in company with the late Whitelaw Reid.

Ambassador Page and his secretaries wore ordinary evening dress, which American diplomats always assume at levees. With the naval and military attaches in uniform, they drove from the hotel when the ambassador is staying to Buckingham palace in royal carriages, with the coachmen and footmen in the scarlet livery of the British court.

The string of royal carriages passing through Mayfair to Buckingham palace attracted considerable attention.

Speaking of the audience afterwards, Ambassador Page said:

"It was one of the most pleasing experiences of my life. The king and queen spoke frankly, cordially and kindly on a number of subjects. They asked after President Wilson and his family and also after my own family."

Harold Fowler, secretary to Ambassador Page, made his first appearance as a diplomat at today's audience.

Mr. Page has received innumerable invitations both to public and private affairs, which, with the court functions during the season, will keep him busy.

After the royal audience, Ambassador Page called on Paul Cambon, the French ambassador, and dean of the diplomatic corps. Within the next few days he will pay his respects to the other ambassadors.

Do You Make the Most of Your Opportunities?

Few persons do. The man with money to invest seldom gets the best. The man with ability to market does not always market it to the best advantage. The employer who needs good men seldom gets them as good as he could. One and all neglect the opportunities that lie practically in their hands.

This paper, for instance. Do you read the want ads it presents as carefully as you should? Yet they are here every day for your consideration. Turn to them now. See if some one of your wants is not met—if the investment, the position or the man isn't advertised.

If not, then write carefully and completely a little want ad and

Phone Main 5000 or Atlanta 109

Thousands will see it, and those who have what you want will answer. And, though every day is a good day to read and use The Constitution's Classified, Sunday is the best of all. So phone your want ads now for insertion in The Sunday Constitution—the standard southern newspaper.

IN INMAN PARK, Edgewood, Kirkwood and Decatur, we have a number of pretty cottages, and a few very attractive larger homes. Most of these places carry all of the conveniences. Kirkwood and Decatur as yet have not the gas, but secure lights and plumbing. This is the time when the country is most attractive. The car service is fine, and to remain during the winter is no hardship. Large lots, good schools and churches, and reasonable rents. Let us tell you about these.

CLAIRMONT AVENUE, DECATUR, GA.

BUSINESS HOUSES.
IF YOU ARE looking for a business location, either central or in some of the thickly populated suburbs, you should come in and consult with us. We will tell you about these, and we are then ready with comfortable conveyances to show you our properties.

TURKEY AND BALKANS SIGN PEACE TREATY

Preliminary Steps Taken and First Meeting of Peace Conference Fixed for Monday.

London, May 30.—The preliminary treaty of peace was signed at St. James palace today by the delegates of all the Balkan allies and of Turkey. Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, presided at the meeting.

Dr. S. Daneff, the Bulgarian peace delegate, in the course of an interview after the signature of the preliminary treaty of peace, said:

"I am rejoiced. It means not only Balkan peace, but general peace, and Europe is saved from one of the most thorny problems of the age.

"We owe a deep debt of gratitude to Sir Edward Grey, whose enduring and untiring mastery in treating diplomatic problems has brought about peace much sooner than some of us had expected.

"The first meeting of the peace conference has been fixed for Monday, June 2.

M. Popovich, the Montenegrin chief delegate, after signing the treaty, made a short speech. "We have signed the preliminary treaty," he said, "because nothing else remained for us to do. We are glad to have peace, but are profoundly dissatisfied with the terms we have been obliged to accept. We have been despoiled of the fruits of our victory. We have been made the whipped boy of Europe. Great Britain took the leading part in depriving us of Scutari. We look here to secure a modification of the Albanian frontier so as to give us lands for cultivation and a natural route between Podgoritza and Ipek."

In your hand you hold a five-cent piece.

Right at the grocer's hand is a moisture-proof package of Uneeda Biscuit. He hands you the package—you hand him the coin. A trifling transaction?

No! A remarkable one—for you have spent the smallest sum that will buy a package of good food; and the grocer has sold you the most nutritious food made from flour—as clean and crisp and delicious as it was when it came from the oven.

READY TO USE TROOPS TO PREVENT GAMBLING

New York, May 30.—Reports that Governor William Sulzer had authorized employment of the state militia to stop gambling were current today coincident with the revival of horse racing at Belmont Park on Long Island this afternoon. Adjutant General Henry Dewitt Hamilton, of the National Guard, admitted that he had a midnight conference with the governor regarding the racing situation and that while he did not believe any such measures would be necessary he was in readiness to call out state troops to prevent violation of the law. "I shall see for myself if there is any gambling," he said, "and take whatever steps are deemed best. The governor is not satisfied that the authorities of Nassau county can or will enforce the law. If they do not, the state must exert its authority."

BLOCK ON FIFTH AVENUE SURROUNDED ALL NIGHT

New York, May 30.—A cordon of 100 armed policemen kept watch all night around an entire block on Fifth avenue between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets in the hope of capturing two burglers who shot Samuel R. The police were on the scene within a few minutes after the shooting, but the burglars had disappeared. A complete set of burglars' tools was found near the gold refinery, in which a stock of gold and platinum valued at $20,000 was kept.

CHARGES AMERICANS WITH AIDING REBELS

Neutrality Law Violations Are Preferred Against City Officials of Brownsville, Tex.

Brownsville, Texas, May 30.—General charges against city officials of Brownsville, alleging numerous acts of violations, were preferred today by Mayor M. Barragan, of Matamoras, Mexico, in a letter addressed to Mayor A. B. Cole, of this city. Mayor Barragan charges that certain of the Brownsville officials have engaged in passing arms and ammunition across the boundary to supply the forces of the rebel leader, Blanco, whose army is encamped within a short distance of Matamoras.

Mayor Cole has asked the deputy United States marshal and Captain Walker, of troop M, Fourteenth cavalry, stationed here, to investigate the charges.

Captain Manuel Hermosillo, of the federal garrison at Matamoras, was shot and killed today when he attempted to arrest Martin Espinosa, formerly city secretary of Matamoras, who at the time was disguised as a woman. Lorenzo Lopez, of the volunteer forces. Lopez questioned Hermosillo's authority to arrest his citizen, and after a brief argument both men drew their pistols, but Lopez is said to have fired first. He is being held incommunicado.

Espinosa was ousted from office at the time of the fall of the Madero government last February, and when the rebels came into power by assistance of Matamoras last week joined the refugees who crossed the Brownsville. He was granted a permit today to visit Matamoras, and Lopez was assigned to guard him.

He will be in the Tabernacle all of next week, preaching afternoons at 3 o'clock, and evenings at 8 o'clock.

SAYS DICTAGRAPH OLD AS JOSEPH IN EGYPT

Preparations are being made for a large attendance at the First Christian Bible school, Sunday morning, preparatory to the big rally which will be given by the Second Baptist, jointly with the First Christian, at Grant's park on June 10, at which time possibly 3,500 people will assemble at Grant's park and spend the afternoon and evening.

Dr. Bricker will speak in the Bible school Sunday morning to the auditorium class, on a lesson which shows that while the dictagraph is a modern and wonderful invention, still the same principles were known in the days of Joseph in Egypt. DISMANTLING SEABOARD SHOPS AT AMERICUS

Americus, Ga., May 30.—(Special.)—Considerable apprehension is evidenced in Americus today over the dismantling of the local shops of the Seaboard Air Line railway and removal of practically the entire enterprise to Jacksonville.

Considerable material is reported to have been sent away already, while numerous employees here declare that they have been notified that they would be taken care of at the Jacksonville shops after next month.

Telegrams addressed by the Americus board of trade to officials of the Seaboard are answered in ambiguous and diplomatic way, which express little meaning and throw no light upon the situation.

The Seaboard shop property here is worth $50,000, and was presented to the company twenty years ago upon condition that the main shops of this division be maintained permanently in Americus. Other liberal grants have also been made by the city.

The Seaboard shops employ several hundred men and is one of Americus principal industrial enterprises.

WILL ATTEMPT TO DRIVE FOREIGNERS FROM CITY

Murder of Howard Jones at Council Bluffs Causes Trouble Among Lawless Elements.

Council Bluffs, Iowa, May 30.—Two patrol loads of police tonight broke up a mob which had gathered with the intention, it was believed, of again attempting to get possession of Francisco Guidice, known also as Henry Wiley, who is being held for the murder of Howard Jones last Tuesday night.

The police learned late tonight that an attempt would be made to drive all Italians and Greeks from the city, and tonight's gathering is believed to have that result in view. Three arrests were made early in the evening of young men thought to have been among the active participants in last night's attempt to lynch Guidice. All are laborers.

There was an exodus of Italians from the city during the day.

The Greek vice consul at Omaha today took cognizance of the damage done by the mob last night to business places owned by Greeks, and said he would lodge a complaint at once with the state department.

The militia guards are at their armory ready to act, should the governor decide soldiers are necessary.

WILL MEET TO PLAN COAL FIELDS PROBE

Washington, May 30.—The senate committee on education and labor will meet tomorrow to plan the investigation of strike conditions in the Paint tary commission established in the Methods of procedure will be outlined and a sub-committee probably will be named to visit the coal fields and make a personal investigation of conditions.

Senator Borah, of Idaho, probably will be named chairman, and Senators Shields, of Tennessee, and Borah, of Idaho, are expected to make up the remainder of the subcommittee.

It is proposed to have the investigators go to West Virginia some time next week and besides making a personal examination of conditions, they will call a number of witnesses to testify as to the operations of the military commission established during the strike zone for the trial of all persons arrested by the military in connection with the strike troubles.

WRECKED STEAMSHIP IS TOWED INTO PORT

Queenstown, May 30.—Several powerful tugs reached the American Line steamship Haverford into harbor this morning. They released her from her dangerous position in Rocky bay, immediately west of Cork Head, at high tide, at 1 o'clock. She had been lying on the rocks since early yesterday afternoon when, with 134 cabin and 850 steerage passengers aboard, she went ashore in a dense fog.

When she was brought into port today she was down by the bows with 2½ feet of water in her forehold and a considerable quantity in No. 2 hold.

Rocky Bay, where the Haverford struck, is in a very exposed position. Had the weather been at all rough, the steamer would have been a total loss.

The rescued passengers, nearly 1,000 in number, gathered today at various points of vantage along the shore to get a close view of the damaged steamer.

All the baggage belonging to the cabin passengers has been landed, and they are to proceed to New York on the Baltic.

It is not yet known to what extent the freight and heavy baggage of the other passengers have been damaged.

THAD THOMPSON NAMED MINISTER TO COLOMBIA

Washington, May 30.—Thad Thompson, a wealthy and prominent business man of Austin, Texas, has been selected for United States minister to Colombia, to succeed John T. Dubois. Mr. Thompson was a delegate to the Baltimore convention and has been an active worker in the democratic ranks. He is a personal friend of Postmaster General Burleson.

The controversy between the United States and Colombia over the partition of Panama from the latter country will be a problem Mr. Thompson will have to handle. Secretary Bryan declared early today, after having had several conferences with Senor Betancourt, Colombian minister here, that negotiations looking to an agreement with the Colombian republic would not be begun until a minister had been selected.

MUTILATED BODY OF YOUNG WOMAN FOUND

Bloomfield, N. J., May 30.—The body of a young woman, from which the head had been severed, and replaced, was found in a vacant lot here today. By means of a handkerchief upon which her name was written, she was identified as Mrs. Alvira Cercillo, wife of a Newark storekeeper. Two hundred dollars which the husband said she carried in her stocking was missing.

Her fingers had been savaged from her hands, and the ground in the immediate vicinity gave indications of a terrific fight for life.

SUBCOMMITTEE OF FIVE WILL HOLD LOBBY PROBE

Washington, May 30.—Senator Overman, acting chairman of the senate judiciary committee, announced today that the "lobby" resolution adopted by the senate last night would be taken up tomorrow by the entire committee, and that the investigation probably would be turned over to a subcommittee of five.

Senators Reed and Cummins are almost certain to be two of the investigators. The resolution requires a report to the senate in ten days, but there is little doubt that an extension of time will be granted if asked.

EMMELINE PANKHURST IS AGAIN OUT OF JAIL

London, May 30.—Emmeline Pankhurst, militant suffragette leader, was again released from Holloway jail this evening. She was removed to a friend's house.

Mrs. Pankhurst started a "hunger strike" as soon as she was reincarcerated on May 26 after enjoying a temporary release on account of her "hunger strike" a month ago.

COLORED DEAF MUTE CONFESSES TO MURDER

Knoxville, Tenn., May 30.—Haynes Terry, a colored deaf mute, today confessed to the murder of Russell Mann, white, and Mayme Steele, colored, and attack upon Carrie Mason, colored, and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Mann, at the colored branch of the Tennessee School for the Deaf and Dumb, on the night of March 17. The confession was made in court when Terry was arraigned on the charge of murder. He was given a life sentence in the penitentiary. Three other defendants who were charged as accessories were exonerated by Terry and were released by the court.

W. R Mann is assistant superintendent of the school and the dead boy is his son.

The Steele girl was a pupil in the school and Carrie Mason was a colored teacher.

Terry assigned as his motive that he feared expulsion or reprimand and he sought to get rid of the superintendent and the teacher. He claimed he attacked young Mann and Mrs. Mann and the Steele girl by mistake, thinking they were the school officials.

FARMER'S BODY FOUND RIDDLED WITH BULLETS

Mystery Surrounds the Killing of Arthur Hawkins Near Town of Lula.

Lula, Ga., May 30.—(Special.)—Arthur Hawkins was found dead with six bullet holes in his side about two miles and a half from Bellton last night after dark.

There have been no arrests yet, and no clues whatsoever as to who fired the deadly shots.

Mr. Hawkins was a law-abiding citizen, a member in the Baptist Sunday school at Bellton, and was well thought of by the entire community.

He was farming near the place he was found in a road, which was used only by few people. He was on his way from the field to his home, which is in Bellton.

His mule came home without him, and his wife sent some one to look for her husband, who was found in the woods near an old house.

ROOSEVELT LIBEL SUIT IS POSTPONED FOR DAY

ATLANTA TO TAKE STEPS TO SECURE CREMATORY

cash." Mayor Woodward says. "If the Destructor company was willing to extend the payment of the plant over a period of several years, why shouldn't it now be willing to discount the contract for cash? I want to help the city out of the hole council has thrown it in, and I feel sure that if we go about it in the right way we will get it for less than $276,000. I wish I could impress on some members of the city administration that they are spending the people's money and not their own."

Attorney Evins says there will be no discounting of the contract; that if the city wants the plant it will be on a cash purchase basis and the price will be $276,000.

"Chapin Clayton has estimated that there is about $35,000 profit in the plant," he says. "He has made his estimate from the material and workmanship. Now, I want to say that more than $5,000 was spent on plans and prints, and the changes we were forced to make cost a whole lot more. All the obstacles which were thrown in the way of the contract cost money.

Plant Nearly Completed.

"We are not antagonistic to the mayor o the city, and we cannot be forced into any sort of an agreement. The company went into the contract in good faith. The plant is nearly completed and it is the finest in the United States. I have confidence in the people of Atlanta. I don't believe they will lose a penny."

To buy the plant this year, the city paying $276,000 cash for it, will mean that the projects which the finance committee was asked to provide for in the June sheet will have to be abandoned. Whitehall property owners asked for $30,000 this year to start regrading, and money was asked for the English Commercial High school and five ward schools.

Chairman Humphrey is not in favor of the finance committee scuttling the June sheet. He says that in making the projects which the finance committee was careful to divide the money in such a manner as to allow the new projects to go through this year.

Members of the finance committee consider a bond issue of $1,500,000, such as was suggested by Councilman Albert Thomas, the only solution of the situation. They, like Chairman Humphrey, do not believe that the crematory payment should be made to the detriment of other necessary projects. They are ready, however, to close the June sheet now and let the crematory deal go through.

City Should Purchase.

Mayor Woodward takes the position that in view of the fact that the plant has been built and ready for operation, the city should make some provision to purchase it. He is emphatic in his demand that the contract be discontinued.

Foes of the mayor say they scent politics in the deadlock. They claim that he knows the Destructor company will not discount the contract, and will make his fight against the crematory on the argument that the price is too high.

"Politics is being played on the other side," Mayor Woodward said. "Let the people of Atlanta step in and find out where politics is being played. I want to see the city taken care of That was my aim when I started the fight against tearing down the old plant."

The finance sheet will be held up until the crematory tangle is straightened out. The committee met Friday morning for the purpose of making up the sheet, but was halted when the crematory question was brought up. The committee met again in the afternoon and had another lengthy discussion and adjourned until Monday morning at 10 o'clock. At that time the subcommittee will make its report.

TO SIGN ANNOUNCEMENT OF 17TH AMENDMENT

Bryan and Guests to Rejoice Over Provision for Direct Election of United States Senators.

Washington, May 30.—Secretary Bryan will sign the formal announcement of the seventeenth amendment to the constitution providing for the direct election of United States senators at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. The proclamation that the requisite number of state legislatures had ratified the amendment, marks the successful outcome of a movement started eighty-seven years ago, and Mr. Bryan has invited several who share his enthusiasm over the event to be present when he signs the document.

Among those invited are former Representative Harry Skinner, George Tucker, of Virginia, chairman of the committee which conducted the fight for the measure in the house in 1892; Representative Sheppard, of Texas, chairman of the house committee which reported the resolution which has been favorably acted upon, and Senator Borah, long a champion of the direct election of members of the upper body of congress.

OLD HABITUES LOATH TO LEAVE ASTOR HOUSE

New York, May 30.—The early morning hours still saw crowds lingering in the rotunda of the old Astor house, regardless of the fact that the famous old downtown hotel had officially sealed its 77 years' history at midnight. At the invitation of the proprietor, the throng helped clear the old black walnut bar of its last drop of Scotch, and stuck close by together in dishes and glasses for souvenirs, to sing and make speeches—all in all an exhibition of sentiment such as Broadway seldom witnesses.

It was estimated that over 30,000 persons surged in and out of the building during the day and night. The last person on the register was Francis G. Terrance, steamboat owner, of Pittsburg. Underneath his name the clerk wrote, "Finis."

What now stood in 1836 as "the most commanding edifice in America except the capitol at Washington," will now come down so that the Broadway subway builders may undermine its site.

LATEST REPORTS FROM ALL OF THE MARKETS

NEW ORLEANS COTTON MARKET WAS VERY DULL

There Was Little Desire for Trading on Account of Holiday.

New Orleans, May 30.—Extreme dullness prevailed in the cotton market today. With New York closed and no official weather reports, because it was Decoration day, and double the days following the close here, there was little desire to trade, except to even up in preparation for the government's condition figures Monday morning. Private reports concerning the weather and the growing crop were bearish, but they caused only very moderate shot selling.

On the opening, the tone was steady and prices were 1 to 2 points up on good cables. The range throughout the session was only 3 or 4 points and the highest, the trading months were 2 to 3 points over yesterday's close; at the lowest they were unchanged to 1 point under. The close was at a net rise of 1 to 3 points.

Private weather accounts indicated that ver ylittle rain fell overnight in the cotton region, and high temperatures were about seasonable. Some rain was promised in the forecast, but the trade regards rains now and then as beneficial. Crop reports, especially from the western belt, could hardly have been better, and pointed to a rain in condition since May 25, the end of the period to be considered in the government's report.

Review for the Week.

New Orleans, May 30.—The net results of this week's trading in the cotton market were a decline of 12 to 21 points. The market was quiet and narrow the week through. The high prices were made on the opening and low prices on Thursday. At the highest the trading months were unchanged to 2 points down, compared with last week's close; at the lowest they were 15 to 23 points under last week's close. The range was 15 to 21 points.

The market was depressed chiefly by good weather and crops accounts. Much bearish talk was circulated regarding the pending report on the condition of the crop on May 25, mut, while estimates by private reports there as high as 85, as compared with the ten-year average of 79.9, it cannot be said that any great amount of action was sold short on it. The holidays in the American markets at the end of this week and the beginning of next, had the effect of restricting operations, and, on the whole, bears preferred to cover commitments rather than to enter into new ventures. Reports from the cotton belt indicated that the crop was making satisfactory progress as the result of recent rains and the somewhat higher temperatures, there was still some complaint, however, of low night temperatures. Moderate short selling from the interior was in evidence. Against this was reported moderate buying for long account, which bullishly inclined traders and brokers said was coming from interests who were hedging against their future requirements.

In the spot department, prices lost one-eighth of a cent, middling closing at 12 5-16, against 12 7-16 last week and 11 2-4 this week last year. Sales on the spot amounted to 1,168 bales, against 2,742 last week and 660 this week last year. To arrive sales of 350 amounted to 835 bales, against 1,383 last week and 600 this week last year.

Weekly Stock Review.

New York, May 30.—The two most prominent features of this week's dull and heavy stock market were the receivership for St. Louis and San Francisco and the presentation of two new plans by Union Pacific for the disposal of its $126,000,000 of Southern Pacific holdings.

The financial embarrassment of the Frisco System was generally known in financial and railroad circles, but the belief seemed to prevail in some quarters that a way may have been found to save the property from receivership. All the securities of the Frisco road fell to low record prices and later were followed by various issues of the roads comprising the Gould and Hawley groups, selling of these latter stocks emanated from sources which suggested liquidation, though their decline was probably accelerated by the shorts.

The outcome of the plans submitted by Union Pacific still is a matter of conjecture, but the general opinion is that the Southern Pacific stock will frankly be trusted under government control.

Monetary conditions in the local market were unchanged, but in the world's other large markets there were indications of increasing tension.

Railway returns for April were disappointing in the main, although invariably showing increased gross earnings.

1913 PECAN CROP IS TO BREAK RECORD, DECLARE GROWERS

Thomasville, Ga., May 30.—(Special.) After being in session for two days the South Georgia and Florida Pecan Growers' association adjourned yesterday afternoon to meet in Thomasville again next year. This place was chosen by unanimous vote of the members, who reported one of the most successful and enjoyable meetings in the history of the organization.

The officers chosen for the coming year were: President, B. W. Stone of Thomasville; vice president, R. O. Simpson of Monticello, Fla.; secretary, W. W. Bassett of Monticello; treasurer, D. L. Williams of Cairo.

According to the reports of the members of the association, who are all actively interested in the pecan business, the crop this season will be a fine one, much better than that of last year. As showing something of the standing of he pecan industry in this section it was reported that within a radius of not more than sixty miles from Thomasville there were 10,000 acres planted in groves and the number next year is expected to be materially increased. Over 100,000 trees were sold by the nurseries in this section last season and large advance orders are already reported for the coming season.

NO, ANDREW CARNEGIE WAS NOT IN ATLANTA, DESPITE HOTEL BOOK

"Is Andrew Carnegie in Atlanta tonight?" This question was asked by scores of guests who crowded the Piedmont hotel lobby Friday evening, for the rumor received its origin from a mute source that is sometimes considered authority, the hotel register. All evening long, and way into the night buzzed the comment of the Piedmont patrons, "Andrew Carnegie is here, I saw his name on the register." Given the hotel clerks were puzzled at first, and bell boys volunteered to scourge the hotel for the Pittsburg magnate, but Chief Clerk Calloway put an end to the excitement when he advised the curious that Andrew Carnegie was peacefully touring the continent across the ocean, register to the contrary, notwithstanding. Handwriting experts will hardly be called in to detect the "forgery," which is laid at the door of some practical joker.

It was a hard blow for the room clerk to hear the veracity of the register indicated, but he avers this is the first time he has been deceived by that grim record which he is forced to swear by.

One of the best musical comedy tabloids of the season is announced for next week at the Bijou. The company includes Martin Guild, Frank Martin, Jimmie Hunter, Frank Grace, Lillian Cameron, Bessie Clay, Mabel Mallon and a big chorus of show girls. The company is said to number twenty people and the attraction is one of the most elaborate that has ever been offered in Atlanta in musical tabloid. Blanche Walsh.

(At the Grand.)

The Blanche Walsh pictures will continue at the Grand today from 10 o'clock until 11 o'clock tonight. They are the most interesting pictures that have been seen on a local screen, and have been brought here at a big expense, but at little cost to the individual person. Miss Walsh heads a cast of excellent players and the big company used to take the picture includes dancers and entertainers who lend to the color of Tolstoi's great play, "Resurrection." There is not a detail in the picture that has been left undone.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

Commencing with matinee on Monday and continuing all the week, a clever bill will attract the entertainment seekers to the Forsyth. The star of the bill will be Lillian Shaw, the well known comedienne, Seldom's Poems in marble will be one of the special attractions. This is about the most artistic number in modern vaudeville. Hazard will make his first appearances with songs, and Wright and Dietrich, the clever singing duo, are assured of a real reception. A good comedy feature will be the appearance of Ward and Curran in their funny sketch, "The Stage Door Tender." And other acts will make the program one of splendid variety.

HEFLIN SPEAKS AT GETTYSBURG

Message of Reunited Country Delivered by First Southern Orator at Gettysburg Memorial Day Exercises.

Gettysburg, Pa., May 30.—Standing on historic Gettysburg battlefield and bringing "a message of a reunited country," Representative Thomas Heflin, of Alabama, today paid eloquent tribute to the heroism of the men who wore the blue and the gray. He was the first address ever delivered by a southerner at Gettysburg Memorial exercises.

"Our colonial fathers from north, south and east and west," Mr. Heflin said, "fought together when they brought this republic into being, defended it together in the war of 1812 and triumphed together when they carried the Stars and Stripes into the heritage of the Montezumas. The final and crucial test of the republic's strength and durability was the combat on the field of battle in the war between the states."

He added that the question of the right of the state to secede and the right of the union to prevent it, the status of rights and relationship between state and federal government, "could not be determined in the councils of peace; it had to be settled by the arbitrament of the sword."

Harmonious Household.

"The republic once abounding with conflicting opinions as to state and federal rights and powers," he continued, "is today the harmonious household of sovereign states, the mansion of a brave and happy people. Here we bow with solemn reverence in honor of our nation's dead and pay to their blessed memory the tribute of our united love.

"Heroism never had truer representatives than those who made this battlefield immortal. Here the soldier in blue and the soldier in gray read in each others' eyes courage born of convictions, devotion to principle, a willingness to do and die for what they believed was right. Here union and confederate soldiers, by their daring sacrifice and heroism, challenged the admiration of the world. Here northern valor drew up in battle line the bravest of her brave, the noblest specimens of her patriotic manhood and southern chivalry marshaled the noblest types of her splendid citizenship.

"Here the brave union soldier checked the march of the hitherto irresistible confederate soldier. Here in the red glare of destructive battle fire two mighty lessons were taught; one that the union should be preserved, and the other that the union should be ever mindful and considerate of the rights of the states. So the soldiers of the two armies who baptized this soil with their blood did not die in vain; they started the work of cementing the bonds of an everlasting union.

Message of Good Will.

"I bring to you a message of good will and fellowship from the people of the south. As an evidence of our recognition and appreciation of the valor and heroism of both union and confederate soldiers, and as a token of the spirit of fraternal love now permeating the hearts of our people, I bring you floral offerings from the flower gardens of Dixie, one for the grave of the soldier in blue and the other for the grave of the soldier in gray. The sublime valor of the heroes of both armies is the priceless heritage of all."

Of the reunion in July of survivors of the two armies at Getysburg, Mr. Heflin said: "What a glorious reunion that will be. The angels will smile upon that gathering and the God of our fathers will bless and approve it."

"Let the living join hands and hearts about a common center for the good of the republic," he concluded. "Let north, south, east and west all work together for the good of all. Here on this battlefield, incarnadined with the blood of patriots, north and patriots south, let us, in the language of Lincoln, resolve that this government shall not perish from the earth."

Mobile, Ala., May 30.—The blue and the gray will join in observance of Memorial day at the National cemetery here this afternoon. A detachment of troops from Fort Morgan will participate, headed by the artillery band of the post. The program includes decoration of the graves of federal soldiers by members of the United Confederate Veterans and the placing of a magnificent floral wreath on the monument in "Confederate Rest" by members of the Grand Army of the Republic. Judge Samuel B. Browne will speak for the veterans. Chaplain E. F. Newsom, C. A. C., will deliver the memorial address.

Cordele Chautauqua.

Cordele, Ga., May 30.—(Special.)—The Cordele chautauqua will begin on June 4 and will continue for an entire week. The opening sermon will be preached by Bishop Warren A. Candler and thirteen splendid attractions in music, oratory and art will appear on the program. Mayor Harder has declared the opening day a half holiday.

SEA GIVES UP BODIES OF TWO NAVY AVIATORS

Zoppot, Germany, May 30.—A party of fishermen today found the bodies of Lieutenant Commander Walter Jametzky and Engineers Mate Dieckmann, of the German navy, who lost their lives on February 7 in the Gulf of Dansig through the collapse of their aeroplane. They were flying between Zoppot and Aldershorst when a wing of their machine broke at a height of 50 feet and they fell into the sea and disappeared.

TWO BODIES INDICATE MURDER AND SUICIDE

South Bend, Ind., May 30.—What is believed to be a murder and suicide was discovered here today when the bodies of Orbeng Grant and his wife were found in their home in a thickly populated residence section. Neighbors assert the husband, temporarily deranged because of tuberculosis, shot his wife and then turned the weapon on himself.

MRS. E. W. DALEY WINS GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

Nashville Woman Defeats Mrs. F. G. Jones, of Memphis, Title Holder.

Memphis, Tenn., May 30.—Mrs. E. W. Daley, of Nashville, Tenn., won the title of woman golf champion of the south today by defeating Mrs. F. G. Jones, of Memphis, title-holder, by a margin of one hole in the finals of the third annual tournament of the Women's Southern Golf association. The count was 1 up.

Mrs. Daley gained a lead at the start and maintained it until the sixteenth hole was reached, when Mrs. Jones squared the score. The seventeenth was halved in five. In the play for the last hole, Mrs. Jones missed her put on her fifth shot, while Mrs. Daley holed the ball and the championship changed hands. Mrs. Daley made the eighteen holes in 98 and Mrs. Jones 99, both bettering the low qualifying score of 102.

Mrs. C. F. Meehan, of Montgomery, Ala., won the final round in the second championship flight by defeating Mrs. H. L. Armstrong, Memphis, 2 up, in a hard fought match.

For the consolation championship, Mrs. A. B. Nowell, Nashville, defeated Miss Joy Tomlinson, Birmingham, Ala., 3 up and 4 to play. In the second flight of the consolation championship Mrs. D. C. Gault, Memphis, won over Mrs. G. L. Myers, another local player, 2 up.

A nine-hole play-off was required to decide the consolation hat-trick tournament between Mrs. T. H. Seymour, Nashville, and Mrs. Henry Howze, Birmingham. Mrs. Seymour won, 53 to 57. They tied on the first round with net score of 58. The tournament will end tomorrow with a mixed foursome.

NEW YORK REMEMBERS HEROES OF THE MAINE

Impressive Ceremonies Mark Unveiling of Memorial Shaft at Entrance to Central Park.

New York, May 30.—In memory of the two hundred and sixty-seven officers and men who were lost with the battleship Maine in Havana harbor 15 years ago, the National Maine monument was dedicated here today. From a dozen American warships, units of the Atlantic fleet at anchor in the Hudson river, a salute of 352 guns reverberated from the Palisades as the veil was swept aside that revealed the country's tribute—a pylon 40 feet high, that stands in Central prk, overlooking Columbus Circle.

Noted citizens spoke words of praise for the dead heroes of the war with Spain and for those who live. Former President Taft, the secretary of the navy, the governors of Maine and New York, representatives of the Cuban republic and others took part in the exercises.

A military parade along Fifth avenue preceded the ceremonies at the monument. Headed by Rear Admiral Winslow, the grand marshal, 5,000 soldiers and sailors, including the veterans of two wars, marched through a lane formed by many thousands of holiday sightseers. American artillery, navy yard marines, bluejackets from the battleships, state militia, cavalry, civil and Spanish war veterans, Cuban troopers and sailors from the Cuba, the island republic's naval representative—these and others were in the line of march.

Letter From President.

General James Grant Wilson, who presided at the dedication, read a letter from President Wilson.

"My thoughts will be very much with you, as will, I am sure, the thoughts of the whole country," the president wrote. "All Americans must look back to the tragedy of the Maine with the profoundest sentiments of sorrow for the fine men who then so tragically and unexpectedly lost their lives and must always fel that to have been one of the turning points of our consciousness of what was involved in the struggle for human liberty."

It was late in the afternoon when George Hjarst, young son of William Randolph Hearst, a member of the National Maine Monument committee, unveiled the monument. As the fleet's guns boomed their salute, a flare, counterpart of the old Maine was released to the Hudson waters from shore. Around the pylon the crowd sang "America."

Mayor Gaynor accepted the memorial on behalf of the city. Wreaths were placed at the monument's base. One from President Wilson was laid by the Rev. John Chadwick, chaplain on the Maine when the explosion occurred.

TWO ENTIRE NEW PAGES OF COMICS FOR SUNDAY

The Quality Kid.

By John Randolph Bray.

John Randolph Bray is the creator of the famous "Teddy Bears" and other striking comic features in high class weeklies and the magazines. Many attempts have been made to produce a comic in which the little rich boy is the center of attraction, but none has ever dcde him justice, as most artists hve thought that simply because the boy was rich, surrounded by luxury and fond parents, he must be a "Little Lord Fauntleroy," or tied to the apron strings of his nurse. This, of course, is not true, and that there are just as many manly little chaps in the homes of the rich as are to be found among the middle class or in the tenement districts. Bobby, The Quality Kid, is a real boy and he gets more fun out of life than most boys, because he makes real chums of the boys in other walks of life who are not blessed with the means possessed by his parents.

He has three great friends he will start the series with, Swipsey, Sharker and Spike. Bobby, The Quality Kid, has great regard for the titles possessed by these chums, who put over some stunts that would do justice to the cleverest crowd of young people in the country.

Women readers will be especially interested, as the drawings will be a regular series of color fashion pictures of the latest Paris creations.

Hank, the Hermit.

By Walt McDougall.

Walt McDougall is one of the creators of the color comic. Since work has for years appeared in the comic section of the leading metropolitan newspapers in America. He is one of the best known black-and-white comic artists in the country today, and he is now in his prime.

Mr. McDougall's "Hank, the Hermit," which has been one of the popular features of The Constitution for some time, is not a forced product. Its humor is spontaneous, natural and delicate. Hank is a genuine character. He is a gentle, lovable, simple genius whose weakness for animals surrounds him with a lively menagerie that never allows him to be dull or idle. A whole stage full of animals and human comedians surrounds him. Each page picture in the life of this endearing old hunter, trapper, scout, detective, animal trainer, traveler and philosopher—for he is competent to be all these things by turns, although all he really desires is to be left alone—is a story in itself.

The humor is neither silly nor vulgar. It rings true, while it is clean and wholesome.

The Jolly Jumpers.

By Harrison Cady.

Harrison Cady has been famous for years as a regular and leading contributor of Life and America's best known magazines and books, and is admittedly the greatest comic animal artist living. Mr. Cady's art work in recent years has been so successful that he receives larger remuneration annually than any other artist doing similar work in America.

The Jolly Jumpers with which all Constitution readers are familiar, is a timely, continued story of the antics of Ebeneezer Hopfrog and his chum, Caleb Cottontail, and into which is introduced Miss Nancy Rabbit and a number of other animals, all of whom are humanized, and who are well readily be seen, get just as much fun out of their life as do the little boys and girls out of theirs.

Just now, Ebeneezer and Caleb are engaged in a series of great baseball games. The home nine sometimes win out, but what these baseball teams don't do to each other is not worth recording here; you must follow the series of these two great and unique baseball teams to fully appreciate the Jolly Jumpers series of Harrison Cady.

MANY CHANGES MADE IN CITY OF SAVANNAH

One of the finest steamships that has ever plied between New York and Savannah is the steamship City of Savannah, which sailed from New York city on May 29, after being remodelled and fitted with new staterooms with private baths, and with a barber shop and other conveniences for its passengers.

The seven additional staterooms and the barber shop have been fitted up, similar to those on the steamships, City of St. Louis and City of Montgomery, and the two large bedrooms have the private bath attachments. By an arrangement under the new plan several of the new staterooms can be sold together so as to form a private suite of rooms on the ship.

Announcement of the improvements in the ship has been made by the Ocean Steamship company, of Savannah, which controls the Savannah line of steamships.

SHE SHOOTS AND KILLS HER PARSON HUSBAND

Says He Was Loading Pump-Gun With Which He Had Threatened Her Death.

Mobile, Ala., May 30.—Mrs. John Halford, wife of a once prominent Baptist minister, shot and killed her husband Wednesday at their home, seventeen miles from Bay Springs, Miss., according to a meager report which reached this city today.

Mrs. Halford declared that she shot her husband from a window in the house, while he was loading a pump-gun at the gate, with which, she says, he had threatened to kill her and her son, Benjamin. Mrs. Halford was released from custody by a justice of the peace, before whom a preliminary hearing was held.

FOUR COWBOYS MAKING 20,000-MILE TRAMP

Senoia, Ga., May 29.—(Special.)—A company of four cowboys from Washington state, on a 20,000-mile horseback ride all over the United States, was in Senoia today en route to Atlanta, having already traveled 6,000 miles of the trip. The members of the company are J. R. Hanson, G. W. Beck, R. G. Rayne and C. C. Beck.

Their object is to visit every state in the union, get a photograph of themselves and the governors of every state, taken in front of the state capitol, and when the trip is finished they expect to write a book of its journey, from which they hope to pay expenses.

They started from Olympia, Wash., in the spring of 1912, obtaining a letter of introduction from the governor to every governor in the United States. They expect to get to San Francisco in time for the Panama exposition, June 1, 1915.

To Remodel Courthouse.

Statesboro, Ga., May 30.—(Special.) A special meeting of the county commissioners has been called by Ordinary Conn, in which the citizens' committee is invited to participate, for next Tuesday, when the plans for remodeling the courthouse will be finally passed on.

Scottish Home Rule.

London, May 30.—The Scottish home rule bill passed its second reading in the house of commons today and was then referred to committee. It follows somewhat the lines of the Irish home rule bill and was introduced by William Henry Cohen, the member from East Aberdeenshire.

Arrested as Watch Thief.

Jesse Ball was arrested yesterday by Detectives Vickery and Hamby, charged with stealing a watch from Miss Carabel Lord, out of the office of Williams A. Sims, 919 Fourth National Bank building. When cross-examined by the detectives at the police station, Ball admitted to stealing the watch and later pawning it.

FRIDAY THE HOTTEST DAY OF THIS YEAR

Government Thermometer Registers 88.3 Degrees at 3 O'Clock in Afternoon.

Atlanta experienced the hottest day of the year Friday, when at 3 o'clock in the afternoon the official government thermometer on top of the Empire building registered 88.3 degrees.

On the street the thermometers went above 90 degrees, and the pavement seemed to sizzle with heat waves as in the midst of summer. Several times during the present year the mercury has climbed nearly as high as on Friday, even getting once to 88 degrees, but this was the first time that that mark has been passed since 1912 came into history.

Despite the high temperature and the many complaints from the heat, no fatalities were recorded as a result of the weather, and there were no reports made of people or of animals dropping from excessive heat.

Officially there is no weather for today, as the weather bureau, following the rule of government offices, closed in honor of Decoration day, when the graves of federal soldiers are decorated.

Unofficially indications point to another day of fair weather, with about the same amount of heat.

The general reports from various parts of the country, and particularly from the west, show a neat wave extending almost over the entire country.

The principal reason for the decidedly hot weather of Friday seemed to be from the lack of the western breeze that for the past two days has given a cooling effect to the temperature and relieved the torrid weather which has existed since the heavy rains stopped.

JAPS DON'T WANT WAR, SAYS CHINDA'S FRIEND

Tacoma, Wash., May 30.—Japan does not want war with the United States, according to Y. Yamauchi, a member of the Japanese parliament, and a friend of Baron Chinda, ambassador to the United States, who arrived in Tacoma today. He is on his way to San Francisco from Yokohama to investigate the California alien land law and the condition of the Japanese on this coast.

"One half of all the Japanese trades with the United States," said Mr. Yamaguchi, "On this cacount the Japanese merchants, with the majority of the people generally, do not desire to make trouble with their best customer and friend.

"Of course, there are some jingoes in Japan, the same, I suppose, as there are in this country. The Japanese nation, as a whole, however, is not influenced by them."
